Newton Savings Bank Opens Branch Office in Needham With Donald P. Frail Manager

The Newton Savings Bank on Monday of this week opened a branch office at 133 Chapel street in Needham. The only formalities attendant on the opening was a house which was held from eight in the morning until eight o'clock in the evening.

Joseph Earl Perry, president of the Newton Savings Bank, Benjamin F. Louis, treasurer and many of the trustees and incorporators were present to extend a personal welcome to the several hundred Needham residents and friends of the bank who came to view and inspect the new banking facilities of the community.

Expressions of welcome to Needham were received from local merchants and officials of the town. Many friends of the bank, including the other financial institutions in the town, sent floral displays that added color and cheer to the occasion.

Seventy people opened accounts the first day. This number was considered by Donald P. Frail, Vice-Treasurer of the bank and manager of the new office encouraging proof that Needham people are going to find mutual savings banking both profitable and convenient. The new office is the only mutual savings bank in Needham.

The office is staffed by Needham residents. They are: Brian Routledge, Assistant-Manager; Virginia S. Burbank and Richard E. Schneider. Needham is represented among the incorporators by Arthur G. Curren, John A. O'Connor and Dr. Stanley F. Teele while both Dr. Teele and Mr. Curren also serve on the Board of Trustees.

Appointment of local residents to official positions on the staff of the bank follows the pattern set in 1946 when the Newton Savings Bank established an office in Wellesley at 571 Washington street. The growth of that office has been a source of pleasure to the management. By June 30, 1948 deposits had risen to $2,281,315.16, while over $350,000 worth of Savings Bank Life Insurance has been issued to thirty residents buying at low cost over the counter.

Including the resources of the branch offices, the Newton Savings Bank, which was incorporated in 1831, has deposits in excess of $30,000,000. These funds, the savings of about 23,000 depositors, are secured by assets of almost $34,000,000, and furthermore are insured in full under Massachusetts law. Regular dividends have been paid without fail for 118 years, and have totaled $19,998,342.75.

Funds are invested in loans to families buying, building, or repairing homes, in personal loans for worthy purposes, in government bonds and in such other sound securities as are permitted by the protective banking laws. After operating expenses have been met, and after certain

33 Pints of Blood Needed for Program

The Red Cross Blood Program has appealed for donors. The Blood Bank is extremely low and if Newton is to meet present emergencies it must have the blood available.

In the past week 33 pints of blood have been requested from the Newton Chapter alone. This blood was needed in order to carry on surgery, to help a seriously ill child, and to meet emergencies resulting from accidents.

If the program is to continue meeting these needs, blood must be available. The Red Cross Mobile Unit will visit Newton August 17 and 18, from 1 p. m. to 7 p. m. at the Chapter House, 21 Foster street, Newtonville. Appointments may be made by telephoning the Red Cross Chapter, LA 7-6000.

August 9, is the last day for filing claims for lump-sum death benefits under the Social Security Act on account of the death outside the United States of a qualified individual after December 6, 1941, and before August 10, 1946. According to James T. Phelan, Manager of the Cambridge office of the Social Security Administration, any such claims filed after that date cannot be paid.

Raid Market and Obtain $900 Value

A super-market manager was held up and robbed of close to $900 at 6:15 Wednesday by two men who forced him to open the store safe at 1197 Walnut street, Newton Highlands, and escaped in a light cream colored sedan. Lawrence P. Cummings of 169 Perham street, West Roxbury, told police he had just locked the store when a young man wearing a khaki field jacket pushed a hard object into his back, ordered him into his car, and forced him to drive to the rear entrance of the store. The second man followed in the cream colored sedan which had been parked in front of the market.

Cummings was ordered to open the rear door and the safe. The pair took the day's receipts, between $700 and $800, from the safe. After calling police, Cummings discovered the thieves had taken his car keys.

Try Baby Sitters

Pity, poor Newton, that it offers a bountiful salary of fifty cents per hour, intermittently, for a matron of the Police Department.

The powers that be, from the Mayor down, should hang their respective heads in shame, that they should expect to have anyone apply for such a menial salary.

Could the Mayor, the Alderman or any other official obtain even a baby-sitter for fifty cents an hour?

Shame, Newton, that with all your vaunted claims, you should offer such a ridiculous salary, if such it may be called, for an important assignment.

Newton has prided itself on being the best municipal operated government, financially and otherwise, of any community in this state. The ridiculous salary of fifty cents per hour for such an important assignment doesn't jibe.

"The Complete Vacationland"

Massachusetts ranks among the top vacation centers in America.

Last year this state grossed better than $200,000,000 from tourist trade. It is still too early to predict this year's outcome, but it will run into many millions of dollars. This of prime importance to all of us since it vitally affects our economy.

The Massachusetts Development and Industrial Commission is doing its part to keep this business flowing into our Commonwealth. It is spending a limited advertising budget wisely to attract vacationers here. Now, with the summer half gone, the Commission suggests that we help individually to stimulate this tourist trade.

We can do it by talking up Massachusetts as "The Complete Vacationland," by writing friends and relatives about the varied recreation opportunities the Bay State offers; by telling them of our unexcelled beaches, scenic Berkshires and noted historic landmarks.

The vacation industry ranks sixth in the state. Millions of dollars are invested directly in Bay State vacation enterprises, which alone employ approximately 18,000 persons, exclusive of proprietors and their families. The income is shared in either directly or indirectly by virtually all of our 351 cities and towns.

Other states are making strong bids for the vacationist's dollar. It is important for Massachusetts to meet this competition. If we can help by inviting our friends and relatives to enjoy the natural blessings which Massachusetts offers, then by all means let us do so.

Two Times To Act

The Social Security Administration has no means of notifying all workers or survivors when they become eligible for benefits, James T. Phelan, manager of the Cambridge office, explains.

He emphasized that there are two times for Social Security action — two times when persons who may be eligible for Old-Age and Survivors Insurance benefits should visit the field office and take action to safeguard their full benefit rights.

The worker himself, who is 65 or over, and has been employed in industry or commerce, should visit the field office as soon as his employment stops, for the purpose of filing an application. It is extremely important to know that applications can only be retroactive for three months, and only prompt filing can prevent a possible loss in benefits.

The other visit should be paid without delay by a member of the immediate family, or near relative, of a worker in covered employment who dies, at whatever age. This contact with the field office by survivors is also important to avoid possible loss of monthly benefits. Many persons do not realize that widows and dependent children may be eligible.

The Social Security Administration office at 1248 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, operates solely for direct service to residents of this area, including Newton. Advice by the field personnel on how and when to file claims, as well as any other matter in connection with the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance program, is absolutely free and will be gladly given. If it is impossible to visit the office, a letter to that address will bring the desired service or information.

Watch Out for Spontaneous Combustion

The hot and humid days ahead require precautions against fires arising from that most treacherous of all causes — spontaneous combustion. These are days when an oily mop in a closet might explode, or a damp cloth in the cellar burst into flame.

Spontaneous combustion is a form of oxidation that goes on in many combustible solids with varying speeds. If the heat is not allowed to dissipate then the ignition point is reached and a flame results.

Spontaneous combustion requires the right combination of heat, moisture and lack of ventilation. There must be some air. If there is sufficient air to carry away the heat from all parts of the surface then the ignition point will not be reached. It is when we have a midway situation that heat is stored up until the ignition point is reached.

In these hot and humid days the sun pours down on homes and buildings. Attics are very hot. If windows are shut while folks are away closets may become hot and devoid of air. Cellars are frequently damp.

In such locations look out for oily or moist rags, mops, polishing cloths and similar materials that have a large surface area and absorb water or oil or grease, including old work clothes.

Check your house NOW. It is a good thing to get rid of all rubbish. The list of materials that are subject to spontaneous combustion is numerous, but almost anything, especially cloth and clothing, that has absorbed water, oil, grease or oily compounds can be dangerous.

In fact good housekeeping calls for getting rid of almost anything that can burn and is no longer needed or wanted.

Joseph Press, totally disabled paraplegic patient at the Cushing veterans hospital, is the new chairman of the Greater Framingham chapter, American Veterans Committee (AVC).

U. S. researchers have sent rockets as high as 235 miles into the ionosphere.

The American Veterans Committee's New England Civil Rights Conference will be held on the campus of the University of New Hampshire at Durham, N. H.

More than 30,000 employees of the scheduled airlines, or one out of 3, are World War II veterans.

NEWTON IN THE PAST

From the Files of The Newton Graphic

55 YEARS AGO

August 4, 1893

NEWTON—The city pay roll has taken many bags of silver dollars from the bank this week, and an extra express wagon is necessary to go about with the disbursing officer. Still no one objects to receiving silver dollars, and the only trouble is in not getting enough of them.

AUBURNDALE—The new tunnel for passenger travel being constructed under the Boston & Albany at Riverside is nearly completed.

NEWTONVILLE—Howard's ice houses, three in number, located on Mill street on the banks of Bullough's Pond, were destroyed by an incendiary conflagration last Friday night. A large stock of ice was destroyed. The loss on the burning structures and contents is estimated at $1500.

50 YEARS AGO

August 5, 1898

NEWTON—The Boston & Albany House which stood on the sidewalk on Centre place, is being moved to the lot in the rear of the Graphic Office and will be fitted up for rental. The sidewalk on the street can now be completed.

Great improvements are being made on Farlow Hill and many of the streets are now so far along that it is possible to form an idea of how this section will look when completed. Some half dozen or more houses are in process of building. The fine view from most of the section and the large and expensive houses that are being put up show that this locality will be one of the best in Newton. It is probable that in a very few years a street railway will pass near the hill, although the Tremont street electric is now only five minutes distant. It is the most extensive development that has been undertaken in Newton and the lots already sold show it to be a very successful one.

35 YEARS AGO

August 8, 1913

Several hundred members and friends of the Newton Catholic Club gathered about the grounds last evening to welcome Capt. "Bill" Carrigan, leader of the Red Sox and Larry Gardner, third baseman on the World's Champions, who were guests of the club. The affair took the form of a pop concert, several hundred being seated at tables on the lawn which was brilliantly illuminated with Japanese lanterns.

Vital Anniversaries of the Coming Week

ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY YEARS AGO (1778) lightning struck a sloop with a cargo of gunpowder anchored in the East River, New York. The following blast and fire destroyed 63 houses and some stores and unroofed many dwellings.

TWENTY YEARS AGO (1928) the American dollar bill began to shrink—in physical size. One-third smaller bills were issued than previously.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO (1873) the steamboat Wawasset burned in the Potomac River with a loss of 75 lives.

THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY YEARS AGO (1593) Isaac Walton, author of the world's most famous fishing book, The Compleat Angler, was born in England. A stone erected to his memory bears these lines:

"Death wandered by the sea,
And struck, by Walton's looks,
Broke Isaac's line of line
And took him off the hooks."

THREE HUNDRED AND TEN YEARS AGO (1638) Jonas Bronck, an educated Lutheran Dane, became the first settler in the Bronx, this inadvertently immortalizing his name.

ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY YEARS AGO (1778) American officers weighed at West Point. Interesting weights recorded: General Washington, 209 pounds; General Lincoln, 224 pounds; Col. Swift, 319 pounds. Of 11 officers, only three tipped the scale at less than 200 pounds. What's this talk of the present generation being so much bigger than their ancestors?

SEVENTY YEARS AGO (1878) first book on adult education issued by the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle, launching in practical form a program of public instruction which gained wide influence.

TWENTY YEARS AGO (1928) the University of California crew won for America at the Olympics in Amsterdam, Holland. They previously won the Poughkeepsie regatta and beat Yale by a quarter length in the Olympic trials.

Avoid Needless Risk, Is Warning Given to 'Take a Dare' Swimmers

(Fourth installment of the "Swim for Safety" series presented in cooperation with the Newton Y. M. C. A.)
"Bet you're scared to swim across the river. I dare, I dare you!"

All too often this challenge, hurled by a teen-age youngster at a swimming companion, has been the prelude to one of the thousands of drownings which occur in this country every year. Needless tragedies they are, too, according to Richard B. Simmons, Physical Director of the Newton Y.M.C.A.

"It is impossible for me to do along with his muscles and over-emphasize the foolishness of this business of 'taking a dare' when it involves some water stunt a swimmer has never tried before," he says vigorously. "Most of these 'take a dare' drownings happen to teen-agers who seem to think they have to accept any dare, no matter how risky, or lose face. It's better any day to lose face than to lose your life."

If swimmers would only swim with their heads as well as with their arms and legs, they would avoid a good deal of trouble, Mr. Simmons maintains. The most important aspect of water safety is just common sense, he says, pointing out that this important bit of mental equipment seems to desert lots of people when they get around water. That is why, he explains, it is necessary for a swimmer's mind to be trained.

NEWTON FIRE DEPARTMENT

FIRE PREVENTION SERVICE

Now is the time to have the necessary corrections made to the heating system while its failures are fresh in our mind. If we wait until the fall they may be forgotten, or there might be a delay in obtaining the necessary parts and having them installed which in the meantime might cause much discomfort.

Check your chimney to be sure that no cracks developed during the winter which will allow sparks or smoke to escape into the building and start a fire. Doubtful openings should be investigated and properly attended to. Chimney should be cleaned at least every other year to prevent them from catching fire and possibly spreading to the building. It can be done either by a company engaged in that work or by yourself if you have the necessary equipment. A weighted burlap bag or some chains on the end of a rope raised and lowered several times on all sides of the chimney will usually remove a considerable amount of soot. The soot should be removed at the base through the clean-out door or by taking out the smokepipe.

All ashes and rubbish near the heater should be removed. Ashes of any kind that are just taken out of a heater should never be placed in or against any type of combustible materials. A metal barrel is the correct article to use.

Smokepipes should be taken down, cleaned, and inspected for rust holes. It is safest to replace all doubtful sections. When replacing them in position be sure that they are securely supported so that they will not come apart and fall down. Sufficient space should be left all around them so that they will not touch any combustible materials.

A heating unit that is thoroughly cleaned of ashes and soot will not hold the moisture as much and tends to cut down rusting and corrosion.

Oil burners need to be thoroughly cleaned and all defective parts replaced in order that they may give reliable service the year round. The supply tank if kept full will help prevent the forming of moisture inside. This moisture may impair the proper functioning of the burner or increase the corroding of the tank. Small holes that develop in the tanks can be plugged temporarily by using a yellow soap on a small screw which is inserted into the hole. This may reduce the leaking until the tank can be replaced. Never neglect an oil leak. Call your serviceman at once. If an emergency develops call the Newton Fire Department Bigelow 4-0030 at once. Don't take unnecessary chances.

Keep the area around the tanks and heater free of all articles so that if an oil leak does develop it can be readily detected and attended to.

With all of these things attended to the heating unit should be more efficient and a lot safer to operate

Letter to the Editor

AN APPEAL TO GET RID OF RAGWEED

Editor, Newton Graphic:

Do you approve of hay fever? Stupid query! Yet most of us seem to approve of rag weed, one of the chief hay fever producers.

We let it grow on our lot or beside the walks from our house to car, bus or railroad. This is serious since so many of us are allergic to rag weed pollen.

Must Newton follow the lead of some neighboring cities that select a president, secretary and treasurer to fight rag weed? We may come to it but it is needless. If you and just a few others in your area will help a little the pest can be reduced here to slight importance. This appeal is not by a hay fever victim, nor is it such sufferers but to such as wish to live and let others live in comfort.

May we admit four facts: 1. Our streets and lots generally are now infested with rag weed. 2. The weed is now coming into bud and is easily pulled up before it blooms. 3. If several of us will take responsibility for our own lots and the space by the walks to car, bus and railroad station the pest will be much reduced at no cost in dollars and but a very slight cost in time. 4. Your neighbors may be interested. The children may be enrolled to pull a nickel won to pull rag weed for you.

That much can be done I have proven in one small area. The rag weed, for two years, I pulled from home to transportation lines, when I walked. From an auto one cannot see the rag weed. On this I need help. Such weeds are especially bad on some open lots of churches, stores and individuals. But, if a few hand fulls are often pulled as one is daily enroute home, you will be pleased by the results. Yes, you may need to wash the dust from your hands but anyway would likely do so before dinner.

Due to misery caused by rag weed to friends and neighbors and as you alone can't remove it all, you may like these lines of Barnard Overstreet:

"But I am prejudiced beyond debate
In favor of my right to choose which side
Shall feel the stubborn ounces of my weight."
Arthur J. Stranson.

Foreign Students To Pay Visit to American Theatre

Students attending the Wellesley Institute for Foreign Students will have their first taste of American theatre tomorrow night when they are guests of the Wellesley Summer Theatre and Theatre School at the Summer Theatre production of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" starring Madge Evans.

Having discussed the works of Elizabeth and Robert Browning in classes prior to their "theatre night," the students will have the thrill of entering the summer theatre through the actual door of 50 Wimpole Street, London, home of the Barretts. In the foyer of Alumnae Hall on the Wellesley College campus, they may examine items from the famous Wellesley Browning collection of manuscripts, first editions and personalia. Among the articles on display are a crystal heart-shaped locket set with pearls; a filigree silver locket containing a lock of Browning's hair; Elizabeth Barrett Browning's gold watch; Robert Browning's pocket Bible; a green morocco box in which Elizabeth Barrett kept her love letters and a marquetry box in which Browning kept his.

A part of the program to introduce foreign students to the American way of life and thinking, the theatre night is one of several extra-curricular activities planned by Miss Carol Roehm, director of the Wellesley Institute for Foreign Students, during the six-week course.

The rat population of the United States has been estimated at 130,000,000.

Ruth Chatterton Star Of 'The Little Foxes'

One of the great events of the summer theatre season has been scheduled by the management of The Boston Summer Theatre at the air-conditioned New England Mutual Hall where Ruth Chatterton is starring in a new production of the great Lillian Hellman play "The Little Foxes" this week, August 2 through the Saturday evening of August 7.

"The Little Foxes" is an electrifying play about a greedy and hate filled family of the South who will stop at nothing to obtain wealth and worldly comforts even at the cost of their own immediate family. The central role of Regina which is superbly played by Ruth Chatterton is reputed to be one of the most cold blooded characters ever written into a play in recent years. A large and excellent supporting cast in the play promises to make this production of the "The Little Foxes" one of the finest summer theatre pleasures of this or any season. Reservations may be made now at New England Mutual Hall, Filene's, and Tyson's. Tommy Murphy's and Caskin's ticket agencies also have tickets for all performances. Telephone reservations may be made at KE 6-2038 and mail orders sent to the box office can be filled in the order received.

'Barretts of Wimpole Street' at Wellesley Theatre This Week

Madge Evans, popular star of stage, screen, and radio, comes to the Wellesley Summer Theatre this week beginning Tuesday evening, August 3 in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," and as a result one of the banner weeks of the 1948 season is confidently expected.

Preceding the performance of "The Barretts," there will again be presented on every night except Tuesday, a one-act curtain raiser by the advanced students of the Wellesley Summer Theatre and School. These playlets have proven one of the most popular inaugurations of the Wellesley Summer Theatre season.

Madge Evans, always popular in this area, played her first film "The Garden of Lies" at the age of three, a film in which Jane Cowl starred. She appeared in motion pictures until she was ten when she began to grow out of child parts. Later while under contract to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer she met her famous husband Sidney Kingsley, playwright and Pulitzer Prize winner. They were married the summer after meeting when Miss Evans was featured in a stock company in Maine. She appeared in "The Patriots" on Broadway a short while later. Among the famous motion pictures in which she was starred are "David Copperfield" and "Dinner at Eight," in which she played opposite John Barrymore. She had planned to retire from the stage when the chance to star in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" was offered her and she could not refuse a role she so well liked.

With Miss Evans at Wellesley will be Peggy Fenn, Patricia White, Jon Dawson, Frank Sandorff, Fay Roop, Bradford Hunt and others. The "Barretts of Wimpole Street" will run through Saturday, August 7, and will be directed by Frank McMullan, guest director.

Navy-Marine Records Still Open for Review

More than 350,000 former Navy and Marine Corps personnel who received lower than honorable discharge certificates are still eligible to have their records reviewed by the Navy Board of Review for Discharges and Dismissals.

The Review Board, set up under provisions of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944, has reviewed almost 19,000 discharges to date. In about 30 per cent of the cases reviewed, the type of discharge was changed for the better by the Board.

All discharges from the Navy and the Marine Corps which were not awarded by a General Court Martial are eligible for review by this Board. Types of discharges eligible for review include Bad Conduct discharges, Undesirable discharges, and discharges Under Honorable Conditions.

Many persons discharged prior to July 1945, received discharges Under Honorable conditions under regulations then in effect, but which since have been changed retroactively. They are eligible for review and possible upward revision. Former Navy and Marine Corps personnel may make written application to the Review Board, Discharges and Dismissals, Navy Department, Washington, D. C., for review of their records to determine if they are now entitled to receive a better grade of discharge.

Telephone Company Completes Plans for Voice Recorder

Final arrangements have been completed for customer-owned voice recording machines to be connected to telephone lines under conditions prescribed by public regulatory authorities.

Along with other telephone companies of the Bell System, the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company has filed tariffs effective August 2. The Company expects to begin filling orders at that time for the necessary recorder-conductor equipment for customers whose recording machines are fitted with the required cord-and-plug appliance.

The recorder-conductor equipment includes an automatic tone device, the function of which is to produce a distinctive signal at regular intervals to let the person at the other end of the line know that the conversation is being recorded. Government regulations recently issued following hearings before the Federal Communications Commission require that the telephone companies install and maintain the connecting-signaling equipment.

The customer with the recording machine will be able to switch it on or off at will, but always when it is on the tone — a "beep" — will be repeated about every 15 seconds. The "beep" is unlike any other tone heard on telephone lines and is described as a brief, high, almost musical note.

Beep Tone Heralds New Era in Phone Age

The very latest development in the world of business communication is the voice record which eliminates the human element in remembering details of important phone calls.

For the first time in history, telephone recording has been regularized by the Federal Communications Commission. This order issued June 30th, and in operation August 2nd, provides for a tone signal device which gives off a gentle, intermittent "beep" informing both parties that a permanent record of the conversation is being made.

The actual recording is accomplished electronically by dictation equipment manufactured by various recording companies and attached to the telephone by a Recorder Connector Unit, a tone signal device being supplied by the telephone companies. This device will be available to telephone subscribers August 2nd, making possible this new recording system on that date.

One recorder, SoundScriber by name, goes one better in this telephone recording idea, by its ability to make extra voice copies that can be routed to other departments, dealers, branch offices, or other parties interested in any telephone recording. So, when you hear this new cadence of business, it will be the "beep" tone signifying that business efficiency is at its highest pitch, and your conversation is being recorded.

Fish Salads Keep Homemaker Cool, Are Easy to Prepare, Delight Family

Hot summer days are salad days, and nowadays more women are turning to fresh fish salads for salad variety, better nutrition and the easiest way to turn out a hearty meal without going near the stove! It's so easy to cook extra amounts of fish when you bake, broil or fry your favorite fish. You'll find that cooked fresh fish, chilled, retains all its ocean-fresh flavor and tenderness—makes a perfect salad-mate with crisp cucumber slices, red-ripe tomatoes, and curly-crisp potato chips. With tall glasses of ice tea or lemonade, and fresh fruit or berries for a dessert... a perfect summer meal to serve indoors or out. Use haddock, halibut, cod or salmon—whatever is your best buy in your own market—but remember: fresh fish salads for flavor and tenderness, for cool meals that are easy to prepare and delight the whole family!

Picnic Fish Salad
2 cups cooked flaked fresh fish (haddock, halibut, salmon, etc.)
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup diced celery
2 cups cooked peas
2 tsp. sweet pickle, chopped
2 tsp. chopped onion
3 hard-cooked eggs, diced
6 picnic rolls
Combine all ingredients except the lettuce, being careful not to break the fresh fish into too small pieces. Chill well. Cut picnic rolls and pile salad mixture in rolls—serve "open face" style, or serve with lettuce in salad bowl, garnishing with pepper rings. Serves 6.

Mock Lobster Salad
4-5 pounds halibut
2 cups chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped pimiento
1 cup French Dressing
Boil halibut in salted water to which 1 tsp. lemon juice has been added. Let cool, separate into flakes, add celery and pimiento. Marinate with French Dressing. Chill. Serve on lettuce with a garnish of mayonnaise on each salad. Serves 6.

Fresh Fish Salad Mold
1 envelope plain gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 1/2 tsp. melted butter or margarine
Yolks of 2 eggs
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. mustard
1/2 tsp. paprika
1/2 tsp. celery salt
1/2 cup milk
2 1/2 tsp. lemon juice
2 cups cooked flaked fresh fish (salmon, halibut, cod, haddock or swordfish)

Beat egg yolks lightly with salt, celery salt, mustard and paprika. Add butter, vinegar and milk and cook over boiling water until thick, stirring constantly. Soften gelatin in cold water and add to hot mixture, mixing until dissolved. Add fresh fish flakes and turn into a ring mold which has been rinsed in cold water. Chill well... unmold on platter and garnish with

1/2 tsp. paprika
1/2 tsp. sage
2 tsp. chopped onion
2 tsp. chopped pepper
2 tsp. chopped parsley
1 tsp. melted butter
Put all ingredients together in order given, place in buttered loaf pan and cook in 350 degrees oven for 45 minutes. Serve cold with mayonnaise or hot with creamed peas and creamed mushrooms. Serves 6.

Personals

Wesley F. Pease, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Pease, 436 Parker street, Newton Centre, is serving aboard the converted escort carrier USS Sicily, presently engaged in ferrying 69 jet planes, 120 officers, and 500 enlisted men of the 38th Fighter Wing from Balboa, Canal Zone, to Glasgow, Scotland.

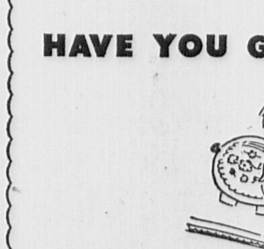

First Sergeants Eleanor M. Pratt and "Jerry" F. O'Rourke of the 9885 TSU-SGO WAC and Male Detachments, respectively, are stationed at the Murphy General Hospital, Waltham. What with the indoctrination of the Women's Army Corps into the Regular Army, the new career-planning program for Eclisat Personnel, and the forth-coming Draft, the two industrious "Top Kicks" are quite occupied with intricate administrative details involved in such activity. First Soldier O'Rourke, a local man, also has a second group under his wing at the Army Installation; namely, the 1134 ASU Attached. A graduate of the Army Medical School in Washington, D. C., as an X-ray Technician, this "Top Kick" initially entered the service October 15, 1940. Prior to his present army position, the "Sarge" was the acting First Sergeant of the Post Medical Center at Ft. Devens. His decorations include the Army Commendation Ribbon, the Good Conduct Medal with Clasp, the American Defense Medal, the American Theater Ribbon, and the Victory Medal. Sgt. O'Rourke lives with his wife, Esther, and two children, Ellen and Robert, at Ayer, Mass. His father, Mr. John O'Rourke, resides at 949 Chestnut street, Newton Upper Falls, Mass. A brother, John, was killed in World War II during the siege of Corregidor.

An "armed mob" scare at the San Francisco Naval Shipyard recently turned out happily for all concerned when station police rounded up the "rioters" in Marine uniforms in extended order maneuvers under arms.

Expanding Army Seeks Officers For Active Duty

First Army Headquarters announced today an extended and accelerated program for the reception of applications by officers of the National Guard and Organized Reserve Corps in the First Army area, for extended active duty, as participants in the expansion of the Army resulting from the passage of the Selective Service Act. Current Army-wide requirements have been set by the Department of the Army at 5500 officers. Department of the Army officials have indicated that this estimate will be revised in future months as Army expansion progresses.

A recent Department of the Army change in "age-in-grade" requirements provides for a relaxation that is expected to augment materially the number of applications. Categories I and II, that is, service for one and two years, have been reestablished. The age level for company grade officers has been raised to 50 years. The age level for major up to and including colonel has been raised to 60 years. With this ruling, second lieutenants, first lieutenants, and captains who are approaching the age of 49 may serve in Category I for one year; or, if they are approaching the age of 48, they may sign Category II for two years. Similarly, majors, lieutenant colonels, and colonels who are approaching the age of 59 may serve for one year.

Gibbs in Talk to Rotary Outlines Growth of City

In a talk entitled "Newton, a City of 80,000" given before the Newton Rotary Club on Monday at the Brae Burn Country Club, Alderman Donald L. Gibbs outlined the growth of the City of Newton between the years 1920 and 1930, also from 1940 to the present time. He compared the average rental and the average worth of homes in Newton with the National averages and stated that according to the latest figures only Cleveland, Ohio has a slightly higher average rental.

The rapid growth of the city he stated will not materially effect the tax rate. The city, he said, has received good government and has been fortunate in the excellent men who have offered their services.

He also paid tribute to the police, fire and health departments of the city who he said have country-wide reputations.

The Oak Hill Development he referred to as being the largest such project in the country.

President Dwight Colburn was in charge of the meeting and the speaker was introduced by Alderman Joseph B. Davis.

Mrs. Frederick H. Morasch, the chairman, and her enthusiastic committee promise tables of great interest. Chairmen and Co-chairmen are as follows:

Aprons: Mrs. Edward R. Aldrich, Mrs. William E. Tomlinson.

Attie Treasures: Mrs. Stephen W. Harris, Mrs. Edward W. Whorf.

Books: New, Mrs. Marshall B. Dalton; Old, Mrs. George G. Ballard.

President of International Kiwanis Clubs to Visit Here

Officers of the Kiwanis Club of Newton have learned that J. Belmont Mosser, prominent Pennsylvania industrialist and recently elected president of Kiwanis International, will speak in this section sometime during his one year administration.

Frank J. Battles, president of the Newton club, said that following his election at Los Angeles the new Kiwanis Chief Executive had indicated he would launch his speaking itinerary in late summer. This schedule undoubtedly will carry him into the majority of the 29 Kiwanis districts throughout the United States and Canada, Battles added.

Delegates to the largest convention in the history of Kiwanis International named Mosser to succeed Dr. Charles W. Armstrong, Salisbury, N. C., who served as president of the community service organization during the past year.

Long active in eastern industrial circles, Mosser is vice president and general sales manager of the Speer Carbon Company and vice president of the International Graphite and Electrode

Corp., both at St. Marys, Pa., where he maintains his home.

In a press conference a few days ago, Mosser said that during his administration he would advocate a program of adult education based primarily on the principle that freedom is "everybody's business." He declared the public must become aware of the dangers that threaten liberty.

"The apathetic and indifferent attitude of today that has resulted in mounting government debt, in broken homes, and empty churches is not the spirit that forded the rivers and scaled the Rocky Mountains."

Mosser said that it is essential that "we realize that the ballot is sacred, that youth must have proper leadership, and that

Historical Dioramas At Newton Library

Historical dioramas, one of the main features in the opening of Filene's newly enlarged store in Wellesley, will be on display in the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre street, until the 9th of September. These miniature three-dimensional scenes represent significant incidents in the history of Wellesley and its neighboring towns.

These models designed and executed by Theodore Pitman, cover a range of years from earliest colonial times in the seventeenth century through the Civil War, and include such fascinating scenes as John Elliot preaching to the Indians, an attack on the meeting house in Marlborough during King Philip's War, an incident with a British spy in Weston during the Revolution, the founding of Wellesley College and the like.

Starting in the fall these dioramas will go on tour of the schools in the fourteen towns involved. In the schools a lecture on the history of the models will be given by Mrs. Janet Jordan, of Filene's, who played a principal part in gathering the historical material on which Pitman based his dioramas.

Children May Need More Food in Summer

Your children may need more food in summer! During the hot summer days many a homemaker eases up on cooking and serves lighter meals. Lighter meals may be well enough for adults in the family who are less active in hot weather. But nutrition advisors of the Newton Nutrition Center and the U. S. Department of Agriculture remind mothers that children may need more food because they are more active on vacation than when in school. Playing outdoors in the sun and air is apt to give them an extra good appetite. Whatever the weather, care should be taken to insure that all of the food they need for health and growth, according to the Basic Seven Guide.

Babies Change Wills

Unless you revise your will after your child's birth, he may be entitled to a share of your estate—no matter what the will says. Under some circumstances, your children's share may be larger than your wife's.

Whenever a birth, or any other family change, occurs in your family, check with your lawyer to see what effect it has on your will. This is the only way you can be sure that your property will go to those you want to get it.

The above message is offered as a service to the community in the interests of up-to-date wills and sound family planning. We are authorized to act as your executor and trustee. For information about this service, see an officer of our Trust Department.

Electric Cooking Popular Here

A special effort to bring to the public complete knowledge on the economy and related virtues of electric cooking is being conducted by Boston Edison Company at this time in the Newton area. Following closely a three-month program carried on in the 40 cities and towns of the Metropolitan area which brought the comforts of electric cookery to many hundreds of Edison customers, the new effort is keyed to the substantial building program in these communities at this time.

The electric range is now established as the most popular post-war home appliance. Its speed and modern advantages have created a very substantial demand for this modern home improvement which nationally as well as locally is now finding a most rapid acceptance.

One must see the new electric ranges to comprehend fully their beauty, equipment features, and performance capabilities. The fast heating units and bake oven, the deep-well thrift cooker, gleaming white finish and storage compartment combine with other features to meet all requirements of the most discriminating purchaser. A special display, designed to make every visitor aware of these important factors, has been set up at the Newton Edison Shop and many range models are also on display at the Waltham Store.

Cooking is said to be the centerpiece of home making and the special appeal of the modern range which stresses economy of operation has resulted in a nationwide surge to the use of the electric range both in new and established households.

Definition of Contamination

In order to allay the fears of the public about the contamination of certain swimming places in Newton, the Health Department would like to define what is meant by pollution. The number of bacteria determine the degree of contamination or pollution. Weekly examinations of the water of all swimming places in Newton are made. If any indication of contamination is found then daily specimens are taken. The test is made by making various dilutions of the water and by the subsequent growth of the organisms on suitable media. In this examination the Health Department determines whether there are colon bacilli or gas forming organisms present. If the specimen obtained is found to exceed the minimum count of such organisms recommended by the American Public Health Association, the area from which it is taken is declared unfit for swimming. Experience has shown that it is safer when such counts are found to close swimming areas until the contamination has disappeared. The concern of the Health Department is to protect the public from any disease producing organisms which may exist in Newton swimming areas.

Fatigue is one of the pre-disposing causes of infantile paralysis and other diseases. Children, therefore, should not be permitted to over exert themselves by swimming or by staying in the water for too long a period of time.

Progress Made in Building

Members of the Boston Real Estate Board, several of whom are active in local real estate, have been greatly impressed and encouraged by the great progress which has been made in the United States during the first half of this year toward bringing the housing shortage problem under control. This progress is revealed in a survey just completed by the National Association of Real Estate Boards, a survey in which the Boston Board participated.

From the national angle the survey shows that one fourth of the cities of this country have already reached a normal supply of single-family dwellings. The speed with which this has been accomplished is attributed to the partial freeing of the building and real estate interests from controls when the new housing and rent law was passed last year.

The survey also shows in 13% of the cities a normal balance has been achieved between supply and demand in the apartment field. This improvement is more evident in the smaller cities than in the larger ones. Building costs are still very high and many projects for the larger cities have been held up, partly because of high building costs and partly through uncertainty over what Congress may do in regard to rent control, public housing, etc.

Americans Invade Canada

Nearly 25,000,000 American visitors to Canada will make 1948 the biggest travel and tour year in the Dominion's history. This means there will be two U. S. tourists going into Canada for every man, woman and child living there.

Although no passports are necessary to enter Canada, some papers of identification must be carried to present to U. S. Immigration and Customs inspectors for the return trip. Once in Canada, however, life for the tourist is made easy. U. S. money is accepted at par value and may be tendered even in government post offices. Last year, Americans spent $235,000,000 in the nine provinces to our north.

The Province of Quebec draws the bulk of the tourists and about 35 per cent of the tourist spending, while Ontario ranks second. Tourists dining in Ontario Province pay a meal tax of 20 per cent if music or entertainment is provided, and Quebec has a five per cent tax on meals. Both taxes are charged as a hospital tax and apply to residents as well as visitors.

Janet Waldo, who plays the name lead in NBC's "Corliss Archer" has been living in her Hollywood apartment for the past few months with nothing but a television set and an ironing board to decorate her living room. This week, however, Dinah Shore and George Montgomery, who have a small furniture factory in nearby Encino, delivered Janet's new furniture. It is modern and the only set of its kind, being especially made from the combined designing plans of Janet and the Montgomerys.

Phil Baker, emcee of the CBS quiz show "Everybody Wins," is putting together material for a book in which he will relate his stage experiences over the last few decades with stars Jack Benny, Ben Bernie and others.

EDITORIAL—People who have money to loan can get 6 per cent for it by visiting the city treasurer at West Newton. This week a number of thousand dollars have been left with him, in sums varying from $1,000 to $5,000 on four and six months time and the city will need many thousands more in anticipation of the taxes. It is a good chance to secure 6 per cent interest and put the money in a perfectly safe place and Newton citizens might as well secure the advantage of this. While the financial stringency lasts the usual method of securing money at a low rate is not available so that the money needed must be raised in other ways.

The Newton Boulevard—A joint hearing before both branches of the City Government was opened on the new boulevard. Ex Governor William Claflin said this boulevard was one of the most important projects that had been started in Newton for years. In a general way he was glad it had been projected and believed it met the approbation of most of Newton's citizens, so far as they were conversant with it. The expense of such an undertaking would be very heavy if carried through from South Street to Auburndale. He thought the majority of citizens would favor such a boulevard from South to Centre Street, but from inquiries made of engineers and others conversant with the scheme, the advisability of extending it farther than Centre Street was more doubtful. It might be well to carry it through to Auburndale in the future but he saw no necessity for doing so at present.

Editorial—The Police committee is considering the advisability of detailing a ranking officer to look after the night squad. The duty would devolve upon one of the sergeants who would be mounted and required to make the rounds of the several wards. The plan has several commendable features. The movements of the patrolmen could be better accounted for, and they would derive benefit from the directing influence. The advice of an experienced man would be of special advantage to the new officers and their efficiency would be enhanced by intelligent supervision and counsel.

Newton—The bells of Grace Church have not been rung for two Sundays past because of the extreme illness of a person in the neighborhood. The music of the bells is greatly missed by many hundreds of people, especially on summer Sunday evenings when they can be heard miles away. The chiming, it is hoped, will be resumed on Sunday.

Newton Upper Falls—Two cats were killed by one of the night cars Wednesday, and the street car men say there were about 150 of them along the tracks that night.

Herbert M. Federhen, IV, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Federhen, III, 102 Oakdale road, Newton Highlands, is attending the Signal Corps ROTC Summer Camp. The ROTC Cadets are progressing rapidly towards the final training which will be a forty-eight hour divisional problem at Fort Dix, N. J.

WEST NEWTON—Capt. J. W. Weeks of the naval brigade has let the contract for his handsome new residence on Valentine street, and the work has already begun. The cellar was finished before the war, and the resumption of work looks as though Capt. Weeks thought peace will soon be declared.

AUBURNDAL—Work will soon be begun on the new line of the Newton Street Railway from "Night Cap Corner" through Lexington street to the Square. The rails are on the ground and it is hoped to have the cars running by September 15.

Letter to the Editor

Editor, The Newton Graphic: The many loyal people who were distressed when Congress gave in to the military commanders and passed a hurried Draft Law, must still be distressed. What was evil then is evil now. The whole idea is against our American tradition and purposes. European and other peoples have looked to us with hope because we were free from that fear and burden. We were the promise of a new day and new civilization to come. Now we give up being the first toward a new world, to be the last great nation to take up the old way of militarism that has brought all of Europe to its present pitiable plight.

There is not only the oft-asked question of the soldiers: "What will happen if we give up our arms?" We must also consider two other questions: "What will happen if we do not give up our arms?" and "Can we expect that others will be willing to give up their arms unless we do so first?" As a practical matter, peace cannot be created while nations are arming; the two are too opposite.

Now that registration time approaches, those who oppose this militarization should act in concert against it. Let Senators and Representatives hear from us. The Fellowship of Reconciliation at 9 Park street can help us act together.

Of the men within the draft ages, some will register as conscientious objectors feeling that war can never carry out the last purposes of God. Some will refuse to register, feeling that the law is in itself un-American as well as ungodly and their protest must be against the very act itself. Any such who wish to clarify their minds by talking the questions out, will be most

Do You Know Massachusetts?

Compiled by the Massachusetts State Planning Board
11 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass.

DO YOU KNOW THAT . . . While the cost of living index in Massachusetts during July stood 64.2 per cent above the average in 1935-1939, the increase in items other than food averaged only 49.9 per cent as calculated by the Division of Necessaries of Life. Food stood 103.8 per cent above the prewar average and was 14.6 per cent higher than a year ago. It now represents nearly 47 per cent of the low-income family's budget. . . . It is expected that the third floor control reservoir in Massachusetts, the Tully Dam at Royalston, will be finished this year. Grant of land has been authorized and plans are under way, also, for the dam at Barre Falls, which will complete the State's flood control program for the Connecticut River Basin. . . . Average weekly wage earnings in Massachusetts during June among factory earners was $51.73, for wage earners in all kinds of construction it was $65.96, in public utilities $60.81, in wholesale and retail trade $39.48 and in miscellaneous other classes $39.82, as calculated from reports by the Dept. of Labor and Industries. A joint report of the Department with the Bureau of Labor Statistics showed 1,730,100 non-agricultural employees in the State, both wage and salary workers, an increase of 34,100 over June 1947. . . . The State Planning Board has prepared tables and graphs showing the net in- and out-migration of population between 1940 and 1945 for each city and town in the Commonwealth.

It Pays To Be Careful

During the year 1947 automobiles killed two-hundred and seventy-three pedestrians and injured seven-thousand nine-hundred and eight. A year ago this very month of August our motor vehicles killed twenty-three pedestrians and injured six-hundred and twenty-five. This year, lest a similar toll be exacted, Registrar King has designated August as Pedestrian Protection Month, and he is taking strenuous measures, not only to secure the full co-operation of every one in his own department, but to enlist the hearty support of the entire public.

Obviously one of the first demands of pedestrian protection is properly operated and equipped automobiles. Accordingly, in response to the Registrar's grave concern about these figures, his whole department is in an alert state of mobilization to intensify its continual crusade for safer highways. All the examiners are scrupulously applying the high standards of our Commonwealth to make sure that those who are sent out with new licenses are able to operate safely. Our equipment inspectors exercise a constant vigilance to keep faulty equipment from being used. Our investigators are ever zealous to report the causes of the accidents and make available to the proper authorities any information that may render our highways safer. All of the Registry inspectors tie in with a program of enforcement, and, whenever necessary, of prosecution, in order to cut down improper operating, and remove persistently improper operators permanently from behind the wheel. Our Division of Statistics has at its fingertips all data that may be brought to bear during any safety effort of the Department. The Division of Safety Education makes good use of such data and provides public information for all those interested in our laws and ordinances and safer ways of operating cars and walking. It uses the offers of a generously co-operative press and radio, lectures and motion pictures presented by its own trained staff to church groups, fraternal orders, public, parochial and private schools. In fact the public, parochial, and private schools and colleges have virtually taken over our safety instructors as part of their own teaching staffs. All this effort should contribute generously to the protection of both motorists and pedestrians.

The Registrar gratefully recognizes the fine co-operation of numerous organizations and departments thereof, without which the task might well be discouraging. He expresses his thanks and sincere appreciation in particular to all of our police personnel, state, metropolitan and local. They have been indispensable indeed. Registrar King well knows, however, that something more than authority is needed, namely, the element of general goodwill. If it were not true that well over ninety-five percent of the public is with us in this effort, all the enforcement authorities in Christendom could scarcely suffice to make a noticeable impression and our sturdiest labors at safety education would fall on deaf ears.

For our motorists, as the traveled ways become more and more congested, responsibilities increase both in number and in weight. Courtesy, common sense and a wide tolerance of other people must play major roles. Let us start early so as to have time to spare, lest we become the victims of unreasonable haste and nervous impatience. Too great a speed for the place and conditions has always been the arch-enemy of safe operating. Let us refrain from diluting our operating skills with alcohol—always. Let us not operate under the handicap of deep fatigue. We must make sure of the soundness of our equipment and be alert and attentive. We should apply our brakes early and ever yield readily to the pedestrian. We ought to be especially careful to see and avoid those who walk the thoroughfares at night. Our effort should not be just to get thru to our destination, but to do it safely—without forcing, crowding or stealing the place in line of the fellow ahead of us who got there first. Because we have our hundred horse power under our hoods, we need more than one-hundred times the gentility we regularly exercise as pedestrians even to equal the standard we exhibit when walking.

As pedestrians also we must not be thoughtless or careless, for our responsibilities here are heavier than ever before. We must play the game by the rules. Please learn to cross streets only at the corners and on the crosswalks, and by no means ever pop out from before, behind or between parked cars. If in the country we have to walk in the street, let us walk always on the left so as to face the approaching traffic. We shall be wise to wear something white at night so as to be seen. Let us never pass the buck to the motorist by thrusting ourselves in front of him so as to make sudden and unreasonable demands upon his response and his brakes.

August, let us remember, may well defeat us if we are careless. At this delightful summer season motorists and pedestrians alike are lured in increasing numbers upon our roads. Let us count our hazards well and be prepared to do our best. Do not forget our slogan: PLEASE BE CAREFUL, THE LIFE YOU SAVE MAY BE YOUR OWN.

How many kinds of ticks are there? How should they be removed? How are they shipped and controlled? Do ticks spread tularemia and Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever?

Questions on the wood tick are answered in the printed material just released by the Mass. Department of Public Health. These pamphlets, questionnaires, and shipping forms may be obtained from the offices of local boards of health. Sample material has been sent also to directors of summer camps, officers of fish and game clubs, extension service workers, and all veterinarians in the state.

In the past two weeks four additional towns, Agawam, Hopkinton, Winchendon, and Topsfield, have reported wood ticks. These bring the total to 107 towns.

Eight tick-infested areas, seven of them in Barnstable County, have been sprayed with DDT by the State Public Health Department. Each area is examined weekly, and, although the tick season is waning, ticks have been found in much greater numbers on adjacent unsprayed areas than on the sprayed areas.

Dr. Vlado Getting, State Public Health Commissioner, is asking the cooperation of local boards of health in this tick study and control program which was authorized by the state legislature last spring.

"Show-offs" Are A Pain Anywhere But A Real Menace Around Water

(Fifth installment of the "Swim for Safety" Series presented in cooperation with the Newton Y. M. C. A.)

"Show-offs" are a pain in the neck anywhere, but around beaches and swimming pools they are a positive menace to life and limb.

That is why Richard B. Simmons, Physical Director of the Newton Y.M.C.A., says one of the most important rules of waterfront safety is to never "show off" when you are around boats, swimming pools, or beaches. It may be fun to rock the boat or duck unsuspecting bathers, but if your victims can't swim, or should they strike their heads on hidden rocks, humor very quickly turns to tragedy.

Another trouble with "show-offs" is that when they're not getting other people into trouble, they're getting into it themselves. Many a "show off" has had to be rescued because he got into a predicament from which he could not extricate himself. Sometimes those going to his rescue suffer injuries or death. The time a lifeguard takes in saving a "show-off" from his own follies might cost more deserving people their lives.

Another way people get into trouble in the water is by doing their racing away from shore. "If you're going to have a race," Mr. Simmons cautions, "start it out in the water from a float or a dock and then race toward the shore. That way you will be closer to land in case something goes wrong and you have to have help. You also may be able to reach shallow water. Should you be racing toward deep water, you might find yourself in trouble, exhausted, and far from help."

At the same time Mr. Simmons calls attention to the fact that swimming is one of the finest of all exercises, bringing into play every important muscle. Swimming is a standard procedure in re-training withered limbs, and even cardiac patients, under doctors' directions, may go swimming when other forms of exercise are denied them.

(Don't miss the final article in this series next week. It will contain good advice on life saving and will sum up this entire series with ten concise rules for water safety.)

It's Your Business

An increasing number of manufacturers are opening their doors to visitors with a neighborly invitation to see for themselves how the plant operates, in respect its men and machines, and learn of its importance to the community.

Business leaders all over the United States have been advocating such plant tours to show that workers here have more leisure and goods than workers elsewhere because they have power and machines to produce more in less time.

Visitors Learn of Costs. Visitors to many plants learn that machines and equipment cannot be installed unless investors put up savings; that the profit incentive must be sufficient to attract job-making capital, and that, in the long run, machines make more jobs.

Guests on the tours were convinced that machines help raise wages and cut costs; that the plant being inspected was a good place to work, and that a company's profits almost invariably are much smaller than the total spent on wages and materials.

Guests Are Impressed. Most plant visitors, it is reported, are impressed on learning that an investment of at least $8,000 is required to provide the average new job in industry.

They discover for themselves that better working conditions, as well as modern, improved machinery, are factors in enabling workers to earn more and produce more.

In some communities, management men plan to extend plant tour invitations to all residents, because townspeople like the idea.

Tennis World Has Eyes on Longwood

The Longwood Cricket Club in Chestnut Hill will soon hold the attention of the tennis world for ten days. It is nearly time for the annual National Doubles, and this year's extra feature, the Interzone Davis Cup Finals.

250 tennis players from all over America and the world will be represented in the tournament. Club officials assure that it will be the most international tournament since before the war. It is practically impossible to single out the famous tennis stars who will be living and playing around Newton within the next two weeks. Old and young, men and women, all are champions. Each American player holds a state or national ranking, and the foreign players are the best from their respective countries.

Newton will be represented in the tournament by Al Everts from Newtonville, Al Still from Waban, Jack Lynch, the Massachusetts champion, and Virginia Boyer from Newton Centre.

The Davis Cup match will be played August 19, 20, and 21. It will feature the top foreign players of the world, Jaroslav Drobny and Vladimir Cernik from Czechoslovakia, fighting against the Australian Adrian Quist, Billy Sidwell, and Colin Long, for the right to challenge the cup-holding United States team at a later date in New York.

The National Doubles Championships of the United States—actually five tournaments in one—will be held from August 23-28. Tickets for all these matches are on sale now at the Longwood Cricket Club.

Huron M. Smith Accepts New Position

Huron M. Smith, Norfolk County's genial 4-H Club Agent for the past ten years, will go to Fall River on August 15 to begin his new duties as manager of a General Mills' store and warehouse. The boys and girls of Norfolk County will miss the inspiration of a friendly leader and capable organizer of 4-H clubs, projects, and activities. Mr. Smith has trained many local, state, and even national winners of 4-H club demonstrations and exhibitions. No one has yet been selected to fill his position.

Mr. Smith was appointed Norfolk Club Agent on August 1, 1938, after two years as associate club agent in Middlesex County. He is a native of Takoma Park, Maryland, a graduate of a Washington, D. C. high school, and holds the degree of bachelor of science of agriculture from Michigan State College (1935). He grew up in Extension Service circles. His father was for many years Director of Extension, United States Department of Agriculture.

Staff associates of Mr. Smith held an outdoor supper party in his honor in the NCAS picnic grove on August 4. They presented him a portable electric player equipped with batteries. County Agent Frank L. Davis, chairman of the Picnic Committee, made a presentation speech.

Director Charles W. Kemp also made a few "observations" and presented Mrs. Smith with a bouquet of colorful gladioli grown in the School floriculture department. The gift committee was headed by Miss Santina Riley; Harold O. Barker put the picnic area in readiness; and Leslie M. Brown planned the supper.

Nearly all of the NCAS staff and their families were present at the picnic. The weather was warm and clear, the DDT-treated grounds practically free of insects, and the fireplace coals ready for savory hot-dogs. The menu also included potato salad, punch, watermelon, and marshmallows—toasted or raw. The Smith family included Mr. and Mrs. Smith, their two sons, Ronnie and Jeff, and Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. E. J. Kelly of Pontiac, Michigan.

After thanking the group for his gift, Mr. Smith played a few records of old-time favorites. During the song fest young Ronnie joined in lustily with the words of "Take Me Out to the Ball Game."

day stopover at Niagara Falls, and a full day in Chicago on the way out—half a day at Chicago, a day and a half in Washington and three days in New York on the way back. Every minute is planned for these visits to the Nation's leading cities.

Thomas Lyndon, Junior Assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 5, Newton Centre, will be leader of the group from Norumbega Council and Quinnipiac Council of New Haven, Connecticut. Tommy is a Philmont veteran, a Star Scout and well qualified to lead the delegation.

Other members of the party are Gustave Umben, an Eagle Scout of Troop 22; Graham Fulton, a Life Scout of Senior Outfit 16; and George Head a Star Scout of Troop 5.

These Senior Scouts are good campers and have had lots of experience under canvas in their four years of Scouting.

This trip is one of several planned for Senior Scouts of Norumbega Council during July and August and lends a chance for adventure in a land of enchantment and rugged living in the mountains of New Mexico surrounding Philmont Ranch.

This trip is an annual event and any Senior Scout is eligible.

Active in civic affairs for many years, the new Kiwanis president recently was appointed by Governor Duff of Pennsylvania to the state committee to Study Education Facilities. He also is a past chairman of the carbon section of the National Electrical Manufacturers' association. In St. Marys, he has served as chairman of six war fund drives and as a director of the St. Marys Chapter of the American Red Cross and the Community Chest.

Mosser was treasurer of Kiwanis International for the past two years. Prior to that time he served as a member of the International board of trustees, International committee chairman, governor of the Pennsylvania Kiwanis District, and president of the St. Marys club. As President of Kiwanis International, he will represent more than 2,800 clubs throughout the United States, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii embracing a membership of 190,000 business and professional leaders.

22-Year-Old English Young Man Ends Stay

Michael Burton, the 22 year old Englishman who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Warner Eustis of Franklin street, Newton, ends his three month stay in America on the 21st of August. This has been his first visit back since he was here as an evacuee during the British blitz.

Mike, as his friends knew him, was 15 when he was here last in 1940. He had come over with his younger sister, Aileen, to live with the Eustis', friends of their parents, and finish school. He went through and graduated from Newton High school in 1943, and returned to England that same year to join the R.A.F. He was a pilot and squadron leader. This recent trip to America was his celebration for being "demobilized" after five years of service. He arrived here the first week in June.

"Has Newton changed?" he asked him.

"No," he answered. "But Hubbard's certainly has."

He marveled at the large number of girls his age who have married, and was relieved to find that not too many of the boys he had known have "gotten themselves tied down."

Mike has spent all of the summer in the east, although not much of it in Boston. He took an auto trip through Baltimore, Washington, North Carolina, and was in Princeton, New Jersey, for a weekend. The rest of the time he vacationed at the Eustis' summer home on Five Islands, Maine, swimming, fishing, sailing, and thoroughly enjoying "the lazy life."

The fun over, Mike has his eyes now on what's ahead. He intends to be a doctor and will begin pre-medical training in England in September. He had hoped to do some advance studying during the summer, but "it's too hard to concentrate over here." He says this is the main reason he is leaving so soon. "I've had a swell time, but I guess I've fooled around enough. Got to get somewhere, you know. Only place to do it is at home."

Mike left with the Eustis family August 12 to spend a final week in Maine. He will take the train directly from there to New York, and will sail on the Ernie Pyle Saturday, August 21, for home.

"Great place, Newton," he grinned. "Be seeing you again in about six or seven years."

Children—

A hearty breakfast makes a good start for a child's active day. Along with their three square meals, children may need mid-morning and mid-afternoon snacks. Try a peanut butter sandwich and milk, fresh or dried fruit, a hard-cooked egg or fruit juice to supply extra nourishment and energy for activity, and to safeguard your children from getting to hungry and tired before their regular mealtime.

Wartime Army Has Changed

Young Americans are on the march again. Throughout the land, as well as in the environs of Needham, many teen-agers and men in their early twenties are preparing to answer a new call to arms. Of interest, then, to many is this article concerning the army — by the army. Veterans will be inclined to take some of it with the proverbial grain of salt, but there is no question, as the army states, that the reorganized, peacetime army has improved and changed for the better in many ways to meet the challenge of maintaining world peace.—Ed.

The new Army "isn't what it used to be."

And many of the objections Mother had with the "draft" Army in the early days of the late unpleasantness are no longer valid objections. For the Army, into which thousands of young Americans are headed a few months hence, has been changed in many ways. The changes were first tried in the Army's experimental units at the Universal Military Training Center at Fort Knox, Kentucky. The success of these new ideas in military training has caused them to be incorporated in the training plans for Regular Army units.

No Cussing

No longer will Mother have reason to be fearful lest her son learn some "cuss" words he never knew before, from some tough old-line Army sergeant. Under the new set-up, the Army just doesn't let the "tough, old" sergeants swear at recruits. The average "tough, old" sergeant in today's Army, by the way, is about 24 years old.

The edict against swearing is part of the Army's new approach toward receiving and training recruits to become good soldiers. Patience with the new-comers has supplanted the old "bawling-out" method that many recruits used to think was a favorite pastime with the old soldiers.

The Army chaplain (minister, priest or rabbi) plays an important role in the Army's plans for training its new draft Army. Wherever possible, the new men will be given individual interviews with chaplains and strongly encouraged to attend a church of their own choice. The chaplains will send letters to parents, from time to time, to keep them posted about their young sons, many of whom will be away from home for the first time. The assistance of communities in the vicinity of camps will be sought to provide wholesome, attractive, and interesting recreational and entertainment facilities for the new soldiers.

The facilities of the United States Armed Forces Institute, the largest educational enterprise in the world, will be available to the selectee or enlistee. The Army puts considerable stress on its educational program which will enable the draftee to continue his formal education in off-duty time. Courses will be available which will fit directly into the educational plans of the new soldier, most of these courses being accredited by civilian educational institutions.

To further promote the continued education of its men, the Army will continue its supervised weekly discussions of current national and international events. These programs, started during the past emergency and designed to keep the soldier informed, are based on the proven theory that the best soldiers are usually the best informed soldiers.

Promotions

In today's Army the ambitious soldier has the best chance for promotion ever offered in a peacetime Army. Many schools and training courses are given now to further the soldier's training and increase his chances for promotion. The Army's "Career Plan" provides an incentive and a goal for the hard-working, forward-looking soldier. Essentially, the Career Plan is a series of written and oral tests for the enlisted man to prove that he is ready and able to do the job of the next higher grade, which, of course, leads to promotion to that grade.

So, opportunities will abound for the ambitious draftees to get promotions and more money, if they are willing to study and work hard. And the draftees who are called to serve their country will be the highest paid conscripted men in history.

Under the new Army grade titles for enlisted men, Recruits will get between $75 to $112.50 a month, a Private will receive between $80 and $120, Corporals between $100 and $150, Sergeants between $115 and $172.50, Sergeants First Class between $135 and $202.50, and Master Sergeants between $165 and $247.50. Add this to clothing, food, medical and dental care, commissary and post exchange privileges and it can be easily seen that the incoming draftees have ample opportunities to better their lot.

THE POLITICAL POT

Tobin Decision One of Extreme Importance and for Him Very Difficult . . . Ex-Governor in Past Few Days Has Been In Situation Seldom Seen: Cabinet or Gubernatorial Race?

As this is written, Democratic leaders and voters alike are awaiting the decision by former Governor Maurice J. Tobin on his acceptance or rejection of the preferred post as Secretary of Labor in President Truman's cabinet—a pronouncement that will directly affect the contest for the Democratic nomination for the Governorship.

By the time you're reading this, Tobin will have made his choice, and whichever of the two possible decisions he makes will have major political reverberations.

If Tobin agrees to assume a cabinet portfolio, it will mean that former Attorney General and A. Dever will become the Democratic candidate for Governor without a real fight and will oppose Governor Robert F. Bradford in November.

If Tobin turns down the Secretaryship of Labor in order to continue his fight for the Governorship, his campaign will have been given great impetus by the tremendous publicity he has received across the State since his appointment was submitted to the U. S. Senate by President Truman last Saturday night.

Mr. Tobin went to Washington earlier this week for the express purpose of declining the cabinet post after thanking Mr. Truman for the honor he had extended.

But the President was unwilling to take "No" for an answer, and Tobin, anxious to return home and resume his gubernatorial campaign, found himself in an awkward position as Truman made a strong personal appeal for him to take the job.

You can well picture some of the conflicting factors Tobin endeavored to weigh during the period in which the President had asked him to "think it over."

It isn't easy to say "No" to the President of the United States, particularly when he's seeking to induce you to take one of the top jobs in the government, a post that carries with it great prestige and prominence.

But Tobin earlier had decided that he owed an obligation to the Democratic men and women across the Commonwealth who had taken their places on the political firing line to support him during the past six or seven weeks.

His personal desire and ambition was to go through with his bid for the Governorship. He had served two years on Beacon Hill and had gone down in the Republican sweep of 1946. He wanted to attempt a political comeback, to reverse his defeat at the hands of Governor Bradford and finish the job he started.

Tobin was willing to put aside his own political objectives, but the obligation he felt to the persons who had joined in the fight behind him and who would suddenly find themselves without a candidate if he accepted the Secretaryship was something else again.

Those were the elements he was weighing as he headed back to Boston from Washington while President Truman in the White House and Democrats in Massachusetts wondered and waited.

There probably have been few times, indeed, when a man was placed in a comparable quandary by the offer of a highly coveted cabinet position, or when a fight for the Governorship of Massachusetts hinged to such an extent on a decision of whether to accept a key government job or pass it up.

What would you have done if you had been in Tobin's place?

Would you have yielded to the President's wishes and accepted the cabinet post with the tremendous prestige it carries?

Or would you have turned it down to continue your campaign for the Governorship?

Rowe Fighting May Hurt Bradford Substantially

It has been a long time since a Republican Governor of Massachusetts was seriously challenged when he sought re-nomination.

G.O.P. discipline being what it is, Republican office-holders, except in very unusual circumstances, are ordinarily re-nominated without opposition from within their own party.

Occasionally, some political unknown steps up to run against a Lodge, a Saltonstall, or a Bradford, and invariably the dark horse challenger returns to political anonymity with even less fanfare than he left it.

Governor Robert F. Bradford, however, is now involved in a primary fight with a fellow Republican who not only has political stature but is basing his campaign against Mr. Bradford on an issue that may cost the Governor G.O.P. votes in some sections of the State.

Bradford undoubtedly will be his party's nominee for another term. His defeat would be a tremendous surprise and upset. But he will have a fight before he gets his party's endorsement. That he knows it is evident from the fact that he is touring the State almost daily as he launches his campaign for reelection in somewhat informal fashion.

Senator Edward M. Rowe of Cambridge, who is fighting Bradford for the gubernatorial nomination, is no political novice. He is a seasoned member of the upper branch of the State Legislature, a practicing attorney and a former member of the Harvard University faculty.

He is attempting to make political capital of the friendship between Bradford and Mayor James M. Curley who is no great idol with most Republican voters.

In virtually every speech he delivers, Rowe calls upon Bradford to explain his relationship and association with Curley, pointing out that in 1946 the Boston Mayor supported Bradford for the Governorship and that in 1947 the Governor protected Mr. Curley's job when he was sent to prison and made it possible for him to return to City Hall when his sentence was commuted by President Truman.

So far Bradford has let Rowe's blasts go unanswered, and actually there isn't much he can say. Curley did support him in the 1946 campaign, refusing to take the stump for the Democratic ticket and attacking Tobin in a speech the night before the election, and Bradford did save the mayoralty for Mr. Curley when many Republican leaders were demanding that Curley be removed from office.

While it doesn't seem conceivable that Rowe can possibly defeat Bradford for the gubernatorial nomination, the Cambridge Senator is likely to roll up a very substantial total of votes from Republicans who didn't like Governor Bradford's handling of the Curley case or are dissatisfied with other aspects of his administration.

Governor Bradford may win back most of those votes in the weeks between the primary and election, but his contest with Senator Rowe is almost certain to leave feeling within the Republican party that will make his campaign for a second term more difficult and probably injure to some extent his chances of gaining reelection.

Possibility That Republican Congressmen Thwarting Truman Have Jeopardized Their Seats . . . Roma's to Be Seen if Dewey Will Take Blame for Capitol Hill Doings

Whether some of the Republican Congressmen were so intent on thwarting President Truman that they placed their own seats in jeopardy is something that time alone will tell, but that is a real political possibility.

Certainly, any political advantages resulting from the do-nothing special session of Congress accrued to President Truman and the Democratic cause.

The Communist-spy investigation to some extent diverted public attention from the Congressional session and the refusal by Republican leaders to carry out certain of the major promises included in their party platform adopted at the Philadelphia convention, but that doesn't alter the fact that the G.O.P. strategists placed some potent campaign material in Mr. Truman's hands.

Many persons, among them unbiased Washington newsmen, are sure what the spy-ring probe proved. It was obviously a political counter-offensive, and many of the most shocking allegations are still unproved and open to challenge.

But almost every voter understands that President Truman wanted to do something about high prices and the housing problem, that the Republican leadership wouldn't do anything about either issue and instead provoked a filibuster by placing the civil rights issue at the top of their calendar.

From a purely political standpoint, the displaced person controversy may not rank far behind the price and housing questions, for Governor Dewey got involved in that argument and was no more successful than President Truman in influencing Republican action.

During its regular session Congress enacted a law which would admit 205,000 displaced persons to the United States in the next two years. To be eligible for admission to this country under one provision of the law a person must have entered a D.P. camp before Dec. 27, 1945. That caused the act to be denounced as anti-Semitic because most Jews entered the camps after that date.

President Truman sought to have the law amended and that date eliminated, and Governor Dewey also urged that the law be changed. Dewey, who remained carefully apart from the rows over most phases of the Congressional session, last week telephoned Senator Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia, Republican chairman of the Senate subcommittee on immigration, which had the amendment under consideration, and urged him to support the change.

Revercomb refused, placing Dewey in the position of being turned down when he attempted to put on pressure as the leader of the Republican party. It has been reported that Dewey might make a campaign speech in West Virginia to explain his position, but it's more likely that he'll let the matter drop. Revercomb is up for reelection this fall in West Virginia. He already has a hard fight on his hands. There is a possibility that the Democrats may regain control of the Senate, and Dewey can't afford to do anything that might contribute to the loss of even one of the Republican seats in the upper branch of Congress.

In attempting to assess the gains President Truman recorded in his controversy with Congress, political observers are uncertain to what extent the voters are likely to hold Governor Dewey responsible for what Congress did or didn't do.

Congress itself is very vulnerable and open to attack. Its members wanted no special session. They indicated early that they had no intention of enacting any important legislation and that their main purpose was to stall and tie up President Truman.

That will cost some of the Republican Congressmen heavily in votes, and in certain instances it might contribute to their defeat. President Truman, however, will be running against Governor Dewey, not against Congress, and it remains to be seen whether the people can be sold the idea that the New York Governor should be blamed for the sins of the Republican leadership on Capitol Hill.

One of the strange features of the recent Congressional session was the refusal of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, unsuccessful candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, to support the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill which he himself helped to write.

That measure was passed by the Senate earlier this year and then killed in the House which substituted a so-called compromise measure that really didn't do much of anything to ease the critical housing shortage.

Senator Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire last week led a drive to revive the T-E-W bill. One of the Senators who declined to join with him was Mr. Taft, a leading exponent of the art of political compromise. Taft insisted on backing the House measure on the ground that it was the only one that could be passed.

"It's hard for me to defend the attitude of the House," declared Taft who then voted against his own measure in favor of the rather meaningless House bill which was ultimately adopted and sent to President Truman.

Mass. Handicap At Suffolk Downs Saturday Afternoon

A brilliant starting field for the $50,000 added Massachusetts Handicap will be run at Suffolk Downs on Saturday definitely started to take shape today when Racing Secretary John P. Turner was advised that Andes Stable's Beauvoir and Deering Howe's Donor would arrive at the Boston track tomorrow from Saratoga and that they would be followed on Wednesday by Walter M. Jeffords' Loyal Legion and Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' Natchez also from Saratoga.

These four handicap division stars were preceded to Suffolk Downs today by Marlet Stable's Vertigo II and Columbian shipping in from Belmont, and they joined James V. Tigrani's Double Jay and Joseph Tucci's Incline who already were on the Suffolk grounds preparing for New England's richest race.

Also stabled at Suffolk Downs are 17 other Massachusetts eligibles, and Circle K Farm already has signified its intention of sending Misleader and Athlete to the starting gate on Saturday, in quest of the gold and fame which has always been the victor's reward in this New England classic, and Mort Stuart intends to send Halbaral.

Suffolk Downs racing officials are frankly jubilant over the response to this year's Massachusetts and there is bright promise of a full field for this 14th running which may turn into the best horse race of the season, a wide open affair out of which will come a worthy successor to the great horses which have won this stake before, including such as Seabiscuit, Menow, Eight Thirty, Whirlaway and a year ago the world's greatest money winner of all time, Mrs. Ethel Jacobs' Stymlie.

New Medical Center Joins With Baylor

Specialized training in pediatrics for students and graduates of the Baylor University College of Medicine, Houston, Texas, will be provided at The Children's Medical Center, Boston, under a new affiliation agreement announced recently by the two institutions.

This unusual arrangement between a Northern and a Southern institution will provide training here for two Texas students each summer, and also will make available appointments at The Children's Medical Center as intern or assistant resident for one or two graduates of the Baylor Medical College each year.

The affiliation agreement was announced in connection with a $50,000 grant to the medical school from Houston's Endowment, Inc., for scholarships designed to promote child health through training in pediatrics. To carry out this purpose, selected students and graduates will work and study at The Children's Medical Center.

This endowment corporation was formed by former Secretary of Commerce Jesse H. Jones and his wife, Mary Gibbs Jones, and has provided scores of scholarships at many colleges in the past.

College and hospital officials today hailed the new affiliation as of mutual benefit. To The Children's Medical Center will come some of the most promising of young Texas medical students and physicians. On returning to Texas, they will bring to the Southwest the knowledge and stimulus provided by work and study at one of the nation's leading institutions devoted to treatment and study of children's ailments.

In addition, officials of both institutions foresaw development of close cooperation in research on problems of mutual interest in the improvement of child health.

Dr. W. H. Morsund, Dean of the Baylor University College of Medicine, declared: "We greatly appreciate this generous gift by Mr. and Mrs. Jones and the affiliation with The Children's Medical Center in Boston."

The new program will materially advance child health and pediatrics in the Southwest, Dean Morsund asserted, and will play an integral part in developing the Texas Medical Center.

A specific provision of the program requires that physicians appointed as interns or assistant residents at The Children's Medical Center here shall spend a final year as residents in a Houston Hospital.

A further provision makes available to selected graduates of the Texas Medical College an opportunity for special training in the various fields of medicine and surgery at The Children's Medical Center.

Mr. John Wells Farley, president of The Children's Medical Center, cited the affiliation agreement as an example of the Center's long established purposes: "The prevention and cure of the diseases of the infant, child, and adolescent; research in these fields; and the teaching of physicians, medical students and other professional workers."

"We are happy," he said, "to join the Baylor University College of Medicine in its efforts to preserve the nation's greatest asset, the health of its children."

The old Latin word for money—"pecunia," from which we get our word "pecuniary"—came from "pecus," meaning cattle.

A Million more calls every day

...that's the story of telephone service in Greater Boston as compared with 3 years ago

In three years, the number of telephones in Greater Boston has increased by about 26%. But the number of telephone calls has increased by 40%. How has the telephone company kept up with the huge growth in demand for service?

FIRST, we have expanded telephone facilities by a very heavy construction program.

SECOND, we have used our new equipment for the good of the greatest number by putting most new telephones on party lines.

We are continuing our expansion program. Its first aim is to provide service for everybody who wants a telephone and does not yet have one. After their needs are filled, we'll be able to start making desired changes in types of service.

NEWTON—WATERTOWN have kept pace with the general trend of increased telephone usage. In 1945, an average of 160,000 calls were being made each day. That volume has now increased to 200,000 a difference of 25%. In addition to this increase in volume, there are now 7000 more telephones than there were 2½ years ago. To take care of this telephone growth additional dial equipment costing over 1 million dollars is being installed in our central office and whatever more is needed to keep abreast of increased telephone usage will be added when conditions permit.

Take the kitchen, for example. It's the most important room in your house. If you think it over carefully, you'll select an electric range for your kitchen. An electric range assures you of fast, clean, thrifty cooking. Fast . . . because an electric range cooks food just as fast as it can be cooked. Clean . . . because electric cooking leaves pots, pans, kitchen walls and curtains spotless, free from soot, stains and film. Thrifty . . . because electric range ovens and thrift cookers operate for a percentage of the time on stored heat — and also because rates are reasonable.

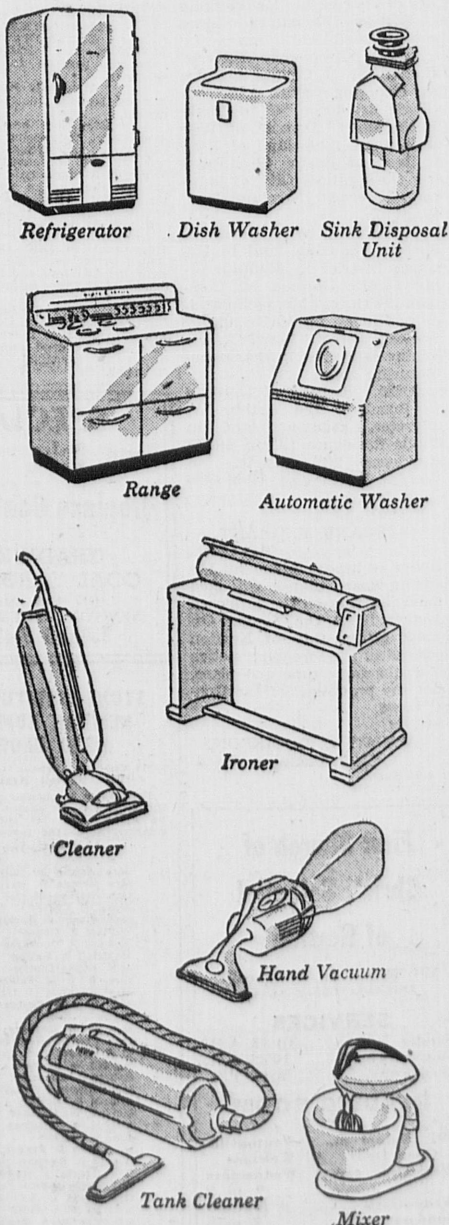

Electric ranges are automatic . . . which means that you can actually control the cooking of your meals while you are away from the kitchen, an important time and labor-saving feature.

Electric cooking brings you many advantages that will interest you. Promise yourself that you will investigate before you buy a kitchen range. You can get the whole story from your nearest Edison Shop without obligation.

Look into the benefits of electric water heating, too. There's no doubt that electric water heating is the most money-saving method of providing all the hot water your family will need.

Remember — electric living requires adequate wiring. Now is the time to incorporate adequate wiring into your home. The difference in cost between providing adequate wiring now and providing it after construction has been completed is considerable.

through the operation of self-service gas stations, the Boston

Self-service stations, such as are in use on the West Coast, have created much interest in oil-ing substantial savings to their customers. The average driver can save $50 a year by patroniz-

Summer Cookery Suggestions To Cut Down Kitchen Time

It's news to most folks when something different can be done with a tried-and-true favorite. Take pot-roasts, for example. They're one of the most popular meats there is, so it's intriguing to know that they can be served in an entirely original way and still retain their traditional goodness of flavor.

This way, according to Reba Staggs, home economist, is to serve the pot-roast in individualized servings. And the amazing part of it is that there is no need to cut a full-size pot-roast into smaller ones—there is a cut of meat that is just right for cooking as an individual pot-roast.

This cut, continues Miss Staggs, is the cross-cut beef shank. When carefully browned and slowly cooked in a covered container with a small amount of liquid (the cooking process known as braising) cross-cut shanks make out-of-the-ordinary pot-roasts.

The pot-roasts may be cooked in a single casserole, or they may be prepared in little individual casseroles with covers—these latter are especially appropriate if you make a specialty of the pot-roasts, as you may well do.

Various gravies may be served with the pot-roasts. A spicy gravy provides interesting contrast. Make it by thickening the meat drippings with 3 or 4 gin-gersnaps and adding a bit of vinegar to taste. Another way to give pot-roast the "new look" is to serve it with vegetable gravy, instead of cooking the vegetables with the meat. For a summery touch, use vegetables fresh from your garden.

Beef Shank Pot-Roasts with Vegetable Gravy

3 pounds cross-cut beef shanks
1/2 cup enriched flour
3 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons lard or drippings

1 onion, finely chopped
1 cup water
2 cups chopped carrots
1 green pepper, chopped
1 cup chopped celery

Dredge meat in seasoned flour and brown on all sides in fat. Add onion and water. Cover closely and simmer 3 to 4 hours or until tender. Add vegetables and cook about 10 minutes. Remove meat and vegetables and make gravy from liquid in which meat and vegetables have been cooked. Serves 6.

Meat Soups Refresh During Hot Weather

The smart summer cook is one who keeps her meals cool, light and refreshing, yet at the same time inexpensive. Summer soups made with meaty soup bones and fresh garden vegetables are an appetizing way to do this.

If you ask for soup bones frequently at your meat dealer's, he may begin to save his best ones for you. There is plenty of the good meat flavor left on the bones, so they add not only interest but nutrition and filling qualities as well to your meals.

Cover the soup bone with water, add salt, pepper and herbs if you like, then cover the kettle and cook at simmering heat for about 2 or 3 hours. That allows plenty of time for gardening or taking care of the lawn. Be sure to bring in some carrots, green pepper, onions and potatoes from the garden, to cut fine and cook in the soup stock until just-tender. Add sandwiches, fruit salad and a beverage for a fine summer meal.

Or remove the bone from the soup stock and store the soup immediately in the refrigerator to heat up with vegetables for a quick lunch or supper dish. Either way saves time, money and tempers during hot weather.

Barbecued Ribs Chill Well for Summer Eating

Quick tricks for summer cooking appeal to even the most experienced homemaker. For instance, every good cook knows that cooking for more than one meal at a time is common sense during summer weather. But does she realize the possibilities along this line, outside of the large cuts of meat that are roasted or cooked in liquid?

Another cut that can be included in this repertoire is barbecued spareribs. If you are barbecuing ribs at your outdoor fireplace or even indoors, prepare enough for another meal.

Well-chilled spareribs are almost unbelievably good.

Store the ribs in the refrigerator, well-wrapped, so that none of their juiciness is lost. Then bring them forth again soon as the main feature of a meal that also includes French bread, hot corn-on-the-cob and iced tea.

Entertain Easily With Extra-Special Dessert

Have some entertaining you want to do? Then invite the girls—and their husbands, too—over for dessert. It's an original, simple and courteous way to handle summer entertaining, says Reba Staggs, food authority.

A refreshing beverage, such as spiced hot tea or cold fruit punch, is the only accompaniment you need. Your dessert, be it a plate of extra-special cookies, a rich refrigerator dessert or an elegant cake, such as this Banana Cake, is the most important part of the affair.

Banana Cake

3 cups sifted enriched cake flour
2 teaspoons soda
1 cup lard
2 cups sugar
1/2 cup milk

2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 1/2 cups mashed bananas (3 or 4)

Line bottoms of three 9-inch cake pans with wax paper. Sift together cake flour and soda. Cream lard thoroughly. Add sugar gradually and cream until light and fluffy. Add 2 tablespoons milk, then slightly beaten eggs. Add dry ingredients and remaining milk alternately, beating thoroughly after each addition. Fold mashed bananas in to batter. Pour batter into cake pans. Bake in a moderately hot oven (350° F.) for 25 to 30 minutes. Frost with a cream cheese frosting.

Dental Authority Praises Discovery Of New Treatment

The discovery that a solution of sodium fluoride applied to children's teeth will reduce dental decay by between 40 and 50 per cent is one of the most significant advances of dental science in recent years, Dr. Herbert I. Margolis of Boston, President of the Massachusetts Dental Society, said in an interview here today.

Dr. Margolis recommended that fluoride treatments be carried on routinely in private dental offices and in school and community dental health programs.

Dental decay, he said, is the most common of all human diseases and is found among 98 per cent of the population. He pointed out that dentists have known for many years the large amount of sugar and other carbohydrates in the diet is a major cause of dental decay. Efforts to induce people to reduce their consumption of sugar, however, have been a failure, he said.

The Back Yard Gardener

I spent last Wednesday at the Waltham Field Station. It was their annual Field Day when they make a special display of their experiments for visitors. Of course, they had a lot of special demonstrations that you would not see at other times, but as I've often said, the real way to get some ideas on vegetable growing and flower growing is to visit any time such places as the Field Station and the University and the County Agricultural Schools. There you can really see what a flower or a vegetable of such and such a variety really looks like, and you can make up your own mind a bit more definitely than if you read the glowing accounts in the seed catalogs.

I saw a lot of things and lots of people, too. Some of the folks who are a bit older than I am must have been just a bit flabbergasted at the gadgets on display. The grounds were literally covered with gasoline engines which had been attached to all sorts of gardening tools. Maybe it was the other way around but either way there were hundreds of machines, from weed pullers up. Two or three of them I think I'll buy when the inflation prices come down a bit. I think my old bones will last that long.

Come to think of it, about the only gadget that I didn't see attached to a gasoline engine was a hoe which works between the hills. They had some that would do the job between the rows but not around the individual hills.

If they keep on they will have gardening down to a point where there won't be any backaches, just headaches trying to get the darn machine started and then keep them running.

But, to get back to the old grind. Early the next morning I picked a bushel of Kentucky wonders for Mom to can. I wish someone would develop Kentucky wonders which wouldn't grow more than six feet high. I have to use Mom's kitchen step ladder to reach the highest.

While we're on the subject of vegetables, right now we're enjoying Coccinelle squash and I'm pleased to note that more and more other back yard gardeners are using these in preference to the old time varieties of summer squash. I find when boiled or steamed they have much firmer flesh and then they have the added advantage of frying as you do egg plants. If you don't think they're good that way, put a batch in front of three hungry youngsters as Mom often does.

One last word before I stop this letter. Don't forget to keep those Jap beetles under control. Mr. Whicomb, the entomologist down at the Field Station, told me just about 15 questions out of every 20 that come in are on Jap beetles.

"Food After Forty"

New Extension Circular

"One way to stay young is to eat a well-balanced diet every day all through life," declares May E. Foley, extension nutritionist, in a new circular entitled "Food After Forty".

Just off the press, this special circular advises those over 40 to "eat less and live longer". It explains that being overweight lowers efficiency and cuts down the life span.

"The most significant thing that is said about a man on his golden wedding anniversary is that he wore the clothes he was married in," the circular adds.

"This could also apply to his wife," says Miss Foley. And she explains there has been a great demand for this type of circular, due to the increasing number of older people in the population. The circular includes a daily plan for the elderly.

Copies of "Food After Forty", special circular No. 154, may be obtained from county home demonstration agents or by writing to the Mailing Room, University of Massachusetts, Amherst. All circulars are free to Massachusetts residents.

The School of Financial Public Relations is an important addition to the adult educational program of Northwestern University. The Financial Public Relations Association and the University are pioneering in a field in which there is great need for adequate education facilities.

Enrollment for the first resident session has been limited to 50 students whose major responsibilities, in their respective banks, are advertising and public relations. This first enrollment brings together students from 19 different states—from California to Massachusetts and from Florida to Minnesota. The youngest student is 34; the oldest, 59. Four of the fifty are women.

A U. S. Navy submarine commander was distressed when he surfaced after having been depth bombed by the Japanese and found an unexploded bomb lodged on the submarine deck. The resourceful skipper however, loaded the bomb on a rubber liferaft and carefully sailed away.

Although the Navy's submarine service is less than two per cent of the total Navy personnel, the submarine forces sank two-thirds of all Japanese ships accounted for by the Navy during World War II.

NORUMBEGA COUNCIL, INC.
BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA
A RED FEATHER AGENCY

Camp Quinapoxet, Norumbega Council's Summer Camp for Newton and Wellesley boys, is enjoying one of the best seasons in history. Norumbega Council operates the Camp for the month of August and a near capacity group of Scouts has spent a busy week the past week practicing the art of good camping. The Camp Program includes Scout Advancement; particular emphasis on good citizenship in camp; health and safety training and first aid, trail safety, life saving, swimming instruction, boating, canoeing and sailing. Scouts have enjoyed good fishing—the record to date, a 19" pickerel caught by Walter Tower, Jr. During the week the entire camp gathered 19 gallons of blueberries and the Camp Chef, Walter Carmichael, baked blueberry pies the next day.

A feature of the 1948 camp program is the "honor unit" plan whereby each Unit is judged daily for neatness and cleanliness of tents or cabins, personal clothing, discipline, etc. Units also are recognized for progress in Scouting Advancement and Camp improvement. During the week of August 1 to 7 the Troop Unit received the "honor Unit" pennant for achieving the distinction of being the honor Unit of the week—this Unit is headed by Carl Fogelgren of Newton of Troop 22, and is assisted by Frank Jablonski, Assistant Unit Leader, of Newton Highlands, Troop 4B.

The usual fall Camp program was presented during the week when Campfire programs were presented, Indian ceremonies, fishing expeditions, overnight hiking trips to Mt. Monadnock, baseball games, moving pictures, swimming meets and boat races. The following Scouts are attending the Camp at the present time: James Alvord, Langford Anderson, Francis Barberio, John Campbell, Robert Christensen, Guy DeStefano, Paul Donnelly, John Duffy, Donald Halloran, Donald Halpin, John Higgins, Russell Leprise, Ralph

There are vacancies for the two-week period of August 15-29. Newton and Wellesley Scout Parks are urged to register their Scout sons for that period—by contacting the Norumbega Council Boy Scout Office.

Thanks to the efforts of Disk Jockey Ed Fisher of Radio Station WHIZ, Zanesville, Ohio, the 109 orphans at the Avondale Children's Home, Avondale, Ohio, will receive in late August Jerry Colonna's new donkey colt "Automatic." The colt was born recently to Jerry's dorky "Louisa" presented to him early this year by Ralph Edwards during a "Truth and Consequences" broadcast when Jerry introduced his song "Honkey Little Donkey." Discovering that Louisa was "that way," Jerry announced he would give the colt to the person who wrote the best appeal. Speaking for the Children's Home, Disk Jockey Fisher's appeal was judged the best.

The annual rental paid by the Navy for leased properties has been reduced by $15,000,000 since the close of World War II.

One of the most unusual gifts received by Bandleader Horace Heidt on his recent coast-to-coast NBC swing was a 3-layer cake which a Zanesville, Ohio, woman took three days to bake and decorate. The housewife, Mrs. Henry Gould, bakes the cakes as a hobby for people she particularly admires. Among those who have received her cakes are radio on-air Jack Bailey, two governors of Wisconsin, and former presidential candidate Alf Landon. Mrs. Gould claims her son, now 18, still has a cake she baked for him when he was 5 years of age.

A new Navy rocket, guided by radio beams, can hit targets up to seven miles away.

Tips For Drivers

You wouldn't rely on another guy to tip your hat when you meet a lady. Neither can you build your reputation as a considerate driver on someone else's courtesy!

That was the statement made today by Edgar F. Copell, President-Director of the Massachusetts Safety Council, in commenting on the August "safety through courtesy" campaign being sponsored by the Massachusetts Safety Council and cooperating organizations.

"Make courtesy characterize your driving—then watch your driving record improve and your popularity grow," declared Mr. Copell. "Every motorist and every pedestrian should keep constantly in mind the thought that courtesy does prevent accidents. Courtesy saves lives. You never heard of anyone apologizing for being courteous, but you can be sure that many a driver has been sorry for his recklessness."

He listed these courtesy tips for drivers.

1. Use hand signals to inform other motorists of your intention to turn or stop.
2. Know the lane you should be in, then stay in that lane. Don't take your half of the road out of the center.
3. Recognize a situation where others have the right-of-way, and yield to them.
4. Don't insist on the right-of-way even when it's rightfully yours.
5. Give pedestrians a break. They can't walk or run as fast as you can drive.
6. Use your horn to warn, not to bully.
7. Dim lights for other drivers at night.

one class. Tennis instruction under the leadership of a special instructor was reintroduced this year and has been very well received.

Baseball games in the midday and junior baseball leagues are daily events, and competition is keen and interesting. Low organized games and quiet activities play a very important part in the program and youngsters are constantly busy from morning to night.

Many trips have been organized by various playgrounds. Among them are the Knot Hole Gang to Braves Field, beach trips, trips to private day camps, the Esplanade Children's Concerts and picnic parties. Playgrounds are visited daily by the district supervisors, Mrs. Ragna Hogvard, Mr. John F. Donahue and Mr. John B. Dacey, and they report more activity and greater attendance at all playgrounds.

PREFERENCE

That Cadillac should long since have been preferred above all other motor cars is only natural—for only Cadillac has devoted itself exclusively to fine car production for more than 45 years.

But the preference for today's great new line of Cadillacs is extraordinary—even for Cadillac. Literally thousands who have previously been content with lesser cars are deciding to end all compromise and own "the Standard of the World."

Two things are largely responsible for this remarkable upsurge in Cadillac's popularity. First is the car's unique and original beauty—and, second, is its incomparably finer performance. Truly, here is the car of cars—any way you look at it.

Lt. Philip Purcell Named Acting Chief of Police Dept.

Lt. Philip Purcell, 46, 11 Lincoln place, West Newton, was named to head the Newton Police Department Saturday. He succeeds Acting Chief William P. Mahoney who died suddenly last week.

Lt. Purcell, trained at the FBI Academy, was head of the Newton Police School before being named acting chief. He received the highest mark in a Civil Service examination held April 3 to replace Chief Nicholas Veducio, who retired Jan. 1. His appointment to full chief has been delayed pending appeals on the examination.

A graduate of the Newton public schools, Lt. Purcell was appointed to the force in 1929. He is married and has three children, Alice, 21; John, 19, and Margaret, 16.

He was recalled from the FBI Academy to organize and direct the police school here. He also has been in command of a night platoon.

A former president of the Newton City Employees Credit Union, he served five years in the Bureau of Investigation.

Senator Lee and Edward F. Connelley Named by Governor To Special State Commission

President Harris Richardson of the Massachusetts Senate has announced the appointment of Senator Richard H. Lee to a special commission to revise the Workmen's Compensation Act. Governor Bradford has nominated a Newton man, Edward F. Connelley, to represent the employers' point of view on this commission. Both of these men were members of a special commission which studied one aspect of the workmen's compensation law in 1947, namely the matter of specific injuries.

The commission's study led it to the belief that something could be done in the way of rehabilitation of injured workmen, and the Legislature accordingly provided for a new commission with greater powers to proceed with this subject.

Senator Lee's military experience served to impress upon him that men recover from injuries faster if they can get out of bed and be active, even though their activity is very limited at first. He believes that our laws can be designed to encourage injured workmen to return to useful activity as wage earners, rather than becoming a total loss to themselves as well as to society. The Commonwealth may be able to adopt some of the techniques perfected by the Army Medical Corps and the RAF during World War II.

Demolition Work Started At Hospital for Erection Of New Seven-Story Wing

Demolition has been started at Newton-Wellesley Hospital in the area where the new seven-story north wing is to be erected. Thayer Hall (the lecture room), which last March was used to accommodate victims of the explosion and fire in Waltham, is being torn down to make way for this extension—an addition symmetrical with the main building.

It will be remembered that on March 6 quick conversion of this hall into an emergency ward was necessary, since there was no other bed space available at the already over-crowded hospital for the badly burned and injured men. When the 26 victims were brought in without warning, beds were borrowed from the interns quarters and storage room for the make-shift ward arrangement.

Demolition of Thayer Hall is the first step in the actual process of carrying out plans to increase the bed capacity of this community's hospital.

The Editor's Stake

A free press is made possible by advertising—a thousand and one different advertisements of industries seeking to sell their wares or services to the public.

From such a field in which to seek business the press of the United States can maintain its financial independence—the smallest country weekly or the greatest metropolitan daily has an equal chance.

Such financial independence means editorial independence. American newspapers are not creatures of government as in dictator countries where they are controlled and subsidized. They are not afraid to criticize government, public officials or business.

There can be no free press or individual opportunity without private enterprise.

Communism and socialism kill free enterprise and personal liberty because under such political systems government owns industry, including newspapers, and the individual.

American editors are against communism and socialism, first, because such governmental philosophies destroy political freedom; second, because they destroy a free press.

Any successful move to socialize an industry in the United States, undermines by that much, personal liberty, the foundation of a free press, and the unrestricted opportunity of individuals to choose a line of work or an employer. Under socialism and communism you work for the state and like it, or else.

This is why individuals and newspapers wishing to retain their independence oppose government ownership of business in our country, while they have a chance. Don't be lulled into a false sense of security by thinking it can't happen here.

Checking Inflation

In voting to shrink bank credit and business credit, Congress took the first mild steps toward bringing inflation under control. The approach was to fundamentals. It will not check the volume of business to any marked extent, but it may give prices a chance to simmer down or at least stop rising.

Bank loans for business purposes will probably be tighter. Interest rates seem quite certain to rise. Construction money will probably cost more.

Congress evidently decided to go along with the wise decision made by the mortgage lending banks over a year ago, to require larger down payments on the purchase of a house.

Installment terms seem likely to be tightened.

These stiffer terms in the mortgage market may possibly cause some few buyers to drop out of the market, but the over-all need is so great that the volume of activity will not be affected.

The encouraging part of it all is that Congress seems to be inclined to attack our fundamental problems with economic logic instead of with artificial controls.

August Ripens

Those gleaming dawns that came sweeping out of the east so early of a June morning are gone. Here it is mid-August, and you can stay abed till 6 o'clock, daylight time, and still get up in time to see the sun rise. And dusk comes earlier. We've lost an hour and a half of daylight since the summer solstice.

Summer begins to thin away. Even the weeds in the garden no longer grow like mad, and the trees begin to show a little weariness. Early apples show color. Blackberries ripen, and the dark heads of elderberries bow the slim stems with their juicy weight. It won't be long before the goldenrod yellows the roadsides with the golden dust of autumn.

It was ever thus since the seasons first marched across the earth, but the first cool rain and gray day of August always comes as a surprise. August, in our calendar of memory, is a time of hot, stifling days and bold lightning and thunder storms that roar across the hills. Yet these forerunners of October come year after year to break the heat and give a foretaste of the next season in the round. The year itself begins to ripen.

Ripeness is not achieved overnight. It is the slow process of the days and weeks, one added to another, warm days and slow rains and a lengthening of root and stem, a blossoming, a fruiting, and a mellowing with time itself. The sun adds its strength, and the time of fullness comes. Spring comes to fruit, and August leans toward September. And we awaken to a later dawn, and we see, over the next hill, the shadow of tomorrow and a new season and the first faint gleam of autumn.

Do You Know Massachusetts?

Compiled by the Massachusetts State Planning Board
11 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass.

DO YOU KNOW THAT . . . Voluntary enlistment of Massachusetts men in the armed services during the first half of August was at a rate which, if continued, will more than double the State's quota and can defer indefinitely the necessity of a draft call in the Commonwealth . . . Of the nine cities in Massachusetts having 100,000 or more population, Springfield and Lynn were the only ones that had a net balance of in-migration between 1940 and 1945. Of the 45 suburban towns contiguous to these nine cities, however, 41 had net in-migration and in most instances the influx of population was very substantial . . . The Civil Aeronautics Administration has announced important improvements to be made during the current fiscal year in airports at Pittsfield, Fall River, North Adams, Bedford, New Bedford, Fitchburg and Worcester . . . Of seven important retail centers in Massachusetts, those showing the biggest gains in sales during the first half of 1948 compared with the same part of 1947 were Brookline 19%; Newton 14%; Quincy 9% and Somerville 9% . . . Bank check transactions in ten Massachusetts cities during the second quarter of 1948 amounted to $9,009,460,000, an increase of 6.1% over the same part of 1947 . . . The Lexington Planning Board is preparing a complete revision of its zoning by-law.

The sun does not give out heat but sends out rays of various wave lengths which travel through space. When these rays cannot penetrate, their energy is converted into heat. The rays are not hot as long as they travel unimpeded.

New York led the nation with 5,046 first enlistees in the U. S. Navy during calendar 1947, according to recent breakdown of recruiting figures. Second state was California with 4,853, third was Pennsylvania with 4,068, and last was Delaware with only 80.

FINE CONVENT BUILDING

In connection with the new parochial school building which has been erected on Adams street, a convent has been put up on the adjoining lot, the latter entirely at the expense of Rev. Michael Dolan, rector of the parish of the Church of Our Lady. It contains besides the equipment of rooms, a beautiful chapel. The altar of marble and Mexican Onyx, is one of the finest in the diocese.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS—

One of the largest crowds yet present at Echo Bridge Park was seen Sunday. The echo under the bridge is now the best it has been this season, and many are taking advantage of this fact. Dickinson's orchestra of five pieces is increased to eight on Thursday and Saturday evenings.

The Newton Clubhouse is again the conspicuous home attraction, now that the greater portion of its members and their families have returned from mountain and seashore.

NEWTONVILLE—There are more vacant houses here now than during a corresponding period for the past four or five years. Quite a number of houses are to be vacated Sept. 1.

NONANTUM—The singing of the peace protocol was the cause of a grand public demonstration on the part of Nonantum citizens last Saturday evening. Watertown street was brilliant with thousands of Japanese lanterns strung in graceful festoons from the houses and business blocks. At intervals along the way huge banners were suspended bearing such mottoes as "The Maine has been remembered," "Now, peace and prosperity," and "Peace and Good Will." Across the front of the Nonantum Clubhouse was a handsome inscription "Victory, '98." Bonfires were lighted and in front of the clubhouse a band concert and speeches occupied the evening, which concluded with an elaborate display of fireworks.

NEWTON—While the big Chicago Special (Train No. 15) was passing through here about 10:42 Tuesday morning at a mile-a-minute rate of speed, those in the vicinity of the square were startled by a loud explosion, caused by the blowing out of the cylinder head of Engine 209. The train came to a sudden stop in front of the depot. When the air brakes were applied the shock caused considerable damage to the brakes on the first coach. It was over three quarters of an hour before a second engine arrived from Boston. Several freight trains were delayed in consequence. The damaged engine was left at West Newton and the buffet car was taken off at South Framingham and a second baggage car attached. Only traffic on Track 1 suffered from the delay.

Java—Florida of the East

Written by Sterling Chen, a Chinese, a Batavian but now a Newtonian. He is a Contributing Editor in Chinese and Malayan languages for one of the leading newspapers in Batavia, Java. Many of his friends would like to know more about Java and thus, he wrote this article, special for the Graphic. We are sure you will enjoy reading it.—The Editor.

Since the termination of the World War II, different conflicts have operated in Europe as well as in the Far East. The world's political atmosphere is desperate. Let us forget politics and let me tell you something about Java, island of Indonesia in the Netherlands East Indies.

As is known to many, Indonesia is one of the richest in natural resources of the groups of islands including Java, Sumatra and Borneo. It lies in the south of India and the Philippines and in north of Australia. The islands have been for 350 years under Dutch rule and are now the victim of revolution. After V.J. Day, two governments exist to control the islands—the Dutch and the Indonesian. By the promise of the Netherlands government, the Indonesian is soon to be given independence in 1949.

Java is one of the smallest islands, but so far it is the most densely populated and the population is nearly 50,000,000 including the Americans and other nationalities. The American Consulate and the General Motors are situated in Batavia—the capitol of Java.

Batavia also is called Djakarta, a derived name meaning the "Town of Victory." It was originally occupied by a large Indonesian village and the residence of a prince who was a vassal of the Sultan of Bantam, the ruler of the westernmost region of Java. Due to the influx of settlers of all nationalities made the growth of modern Batavia, but the old fortress, ancient traditional beauty can still be seen by tourists. The world's third largest botanical garden is about 80 miles from Batavia.

Batavia is the most crowded business center in Java. The important industries such as modern factories, movies, big department stores as well as amusement park are all run by the Chinese. In Java, without the Chinese there would be no market, no work. The first Netherlands Governor General in Java, Jan Pieterszoon Coen evidently had a high regard for Chinese activity because of their honesty and integrity. Even after his resignation in 1623, he testified open-heartedly that "There are no people which serve us better than the Chinese."

In Java there are a great number of American cosmetics on the market and the American Hollywood pictures are widespread. The most popular among the Hollywood stars are Clark Gable, Bing Crosby and Loretta Young. Besides the Indonesian dialects, three languages—Dutch, Chinese and English are spoken in Java. The natives so-called the Indonesians are ninety per cent illiterate. During the decade before the Japanese invasion, most of the schools were elementary for the Indonesian people. All education was charged and there was one university and one medical school, from which about 30 Indonesians graduated each year.

Fumbling Rescue Attempts Result In Two Victims Instead of One

(Sixth installment of the "Swim for Safety" series presented in cooperation with the Newton Y.M.C.A.)

Courage is always magnificent, but courage alone is not enough to rescue a drowning person from deep water. All too often it only results in the would-be rescuer becoming a victim himself.

To rescue a drowning person from deep water requires courage, but still more necessary are swimming expertness, physical stamina and the special knowledge that can come only from go for help as fast as you can.

6. Everyone, whether he can swim or not, should learn and practice the principles of artificial respiration.

Below are the Y.M.C.A.'s 10 basic rules of waterfront safety described more fully in previous articles. Clip them out now for future reference. They might save your life or the lives of your loved ones. Be particularly sure your children know them by heart and appreciate their value. Suggestion, make them into a poster to be prominently displayed at your camp or summer home.

1. Never go swimming alone. If you do, there will be no one to help you if you get into trouble.

2. Never go swimming at an unguarded spot. Docks, piers, and river banks are dangerous places to swim.

3. Never dive into strange water. You might hit your head on the bottom or get caught in debris.

4. Don't show off in the water. "Show offs" cause many fatal accidents every year.

5. Don't attempt a rescue unless you are a strong swimmer. You are only apt to get into trouble if you do.

6. Cool off before plunging into cold water. Cramps or heart failure may be brought on by sudden changes in temperature.

7. If you can't swim, stay out of small boats. Never go out in a canoe or rowboat unless you can swim to shore.

8. Pay strict attention to warning signals. They were put there for your protection.

9. Race toward the shore, not away from it. When swimming, "go out like a lamb and back like a lion."

10. Know your limitations. Don't go beyond your limits just because someone dares you.

A Warning On Labor Day

By RUDOLPH F. KING, Registrar of Motor Vehicles

During the 1947 Labor Day Week-end ten people were killed by automobiles right here in Massachusetts. In other words Labor Day Week-end represents one of the most hazardous hurdles in our whole year's race for highway safety. The Grim Reaper will be on hand this year—count on it! My inspectors with all departments of police will be on the job to oppose him—count on that, too! But how about you?

All the best efforts of all the authorities will not be enough unless you personally are enlisted in this cause.

As Registrar of Motor Vehicles I am appealing well ahead of the crisis to every motorist, bike-rider and pedestrian to play his important part. As motorists we must be unusually patient with the holiday congestion, contented to move in orderly lines at those conservative speeds which permit the heaviest flow of traffic. As bike-riders we should try to avoid those thoroughfares where the traffic is burdensome, and ride as always on the extreme right and in single file. As pedestrians let us be restrained by reason; cross streets at the corners only, and at the right time. Let us not pass the buck to the motorist! In your own behalf I ask you earnestly for your help. Will you please let me count on you? Remember our slogan: "Walk and Drive Carefully, The Life You Save May Be Your Own."

THE POLITICAL POT

Withdrawal of Tobin from Primary Race Greatly Enhances Dever's Stature . . . His Followers Now Jubilant But Bradford Likely to Be Tough Opponent . . . Tobin Made Wise Move

One of the unusual aspects to the appointment of Maurice J. Tobin as the new Secretary of Labor was that it caused far more jubilation in the Dever camp than it did among Tobin's followers.

From the reaction of the Dever supporters you might well have assumed that Tobin's withdrawal from the gubernatorial race automatically assured the former Attorney-General of election to the Governorship.

Tobin's decision to yield to President Truman's wishes and accept the Cabinet post, despite his personal disposition to turn it down in favor of his own drive for election as Governor, unquestionably strengthens Dever's prospects for election. From all indications Dever and Tobin were extremely closely matched, and at the time Tobin retired from the gubernatorial contest and shifted his sphere of activities to Washington he was battling Dever about on equal terms.

The arguments that raged as to whether Tobin or Dever packed the greater primary power will now, of course, never be settled, but most political observers consider that ex-Governor Tobin made a wise move in accepting the position in President Truman's cabinet.

He will certainly come back from Washington with greatly increased prestige, even if he only holds the Cabinet post for five months, as Republican politicians insist will be the case. He's still a young man, and if he chooses to do so he can run for Governor or for U. S. Senator at any time in the future.

There is no doubt whatever, of course, that Dever's chances of becoming the next Governor are far brighter than they were a fortnight ago. He no longer has any primary contest, and he can center his attention exclusively on his battle with Governor Robert F. Bradford.

But despite the wave of optimism that has swept the Dever camp in the past 10 days, he still is a long way from having the Governorship in his pocket, and Mr. Bradford is likely to prove a much tougher opponent than some of the Dever lieutenants seem to believe.

Dever is in a very strong position for this fight. He will have the backing of virtually every element of the Democratic party in Massachusetts. With a great deal depending upon the trend of the Presidential race in the Bay State, however, Dever's supporters cannot afford to take anything for granted. They certainly know from experience that elections are not won or lost until the votes are counted.

Analyses by Capital Pundits on Bay State Situation Largely Erroneous . . . Right Now It Could Wind Up With Either Party . . . Clergy and Labor Getting Out Big Vote

President Truman would quit his campaign now if he considered the Washington political pundits infallible for they have virtually counted him out of the Presidential fight and consider Governor Dewey almost as good as elected.

The political prophets at the Capital express the conviction that Mr. Truman is reasonably certain of carrying only two States outside of the South. They list those as his home State of Missouri and little Rhode Island, which withstood the surge of the Republican tide two years ago.

When you pin them down with specific questions, however, you begin to wonder how much attention should be paid to the predictions emanating from the political headquarters of the nation for you find that they know little about the local conditions and trends in the individual States.

Their forecasts for the most part are based on the general, and probably well founded, belief that there is a Republican trend and that after 16 years of Democratic rule at the White House the people are ready for a change.

They are completely unaware of the cross currents that might have an effect upon the election in Massachusetts, and the only explanation they offer for counting the Bay State in the Dewey column is the belief that Truman can't carry this State with Henry A. Wallace in the field.

Under close questioning they concede that Massachusetts is probably a fighting State that may ultimately be carried by either Truman or Dewey. And if the so-called Washington experts know as little about conditions in other States as they do in Massachusetts, President Truman can hardly be blamed for considering their opinions almost worthless.

They were unaware, for example, that the biggest drive for the enrollment of new voters in Massachusetts had been staged by the clergy of the Catholic Church as part of their fight against the birth control movement and that organized labor has been the second most active group in the registration work because of its apprehension over the anti-labor referenda which will appear on the ballot here in November.

The capital experts for some reason were under the impression that the supporters of Governor Dewey had been responsible for most of the new voters added to the lists of the cities and towns throughout Massachusetts when actually there has been no real Republican registration drive to date.

To an outsider listening to the analysis of the Presidential fight by the Washington observers it is evident that the two big obstacles facing the Democratic high command are Henry A. Wallace and the public desire for a change and to try something new.

Wallace may make it impossible for Truman to carry New York State and to obtain its big electoral vote. There doesn't appear to be much doubt but that the former Vice President is going to poll a sizeable vote in New York City and that he'll take most of them from Mr. Truman.

That's one of the problems over which the President's advisers have been pondering, and there doesn't seem to be any real solution to it. The Democrats will throw everything they have into the bitter battle for the most important State in the Union, but it looks like a losing fight. Some politicians think Wallace may even poll as many votes in New York as he does in all the rest of the country.

Wallace won't be nearly as important a factor in Massachusetts as he is in New York. His convention showed him to be too closely allied with the Communists to draw anything more in the Bay State than the red and pink vote and the ballots of the intellectuals and laborites with pink leanings.

As a matter of fact, Wallace strips the Republicans of one campaign argument they have used effectively in the past, for

Australian Davis Cup Members Staying at Brae Burn Club

By LEE J. TYLER

The four members of the Australian Davis Cup Team, who have been staying at the Brae Burn Country Club since August 16, asked rather wistfully in an interview if they could be called people, rather than tennis players, just for a change.

They are here to challenge the Czechs, Jaroslav Drobny and Vladimir Cernik, in the Interzone Davis Cup semi-finals at Longwood Cricket Club August 19-21. Five tough battles are assured. Czechoslovakia has never won the cup. Australia has held it seven times, and has hopes of making it eight.

Both teams have traveled a long way for these matches. A victory means a great deal to both countries. With so much expected of them, it is no wonder that they all plead, "Let's not talk tennis."

Adrian Quist is the playing captain of the Australian team and holds the singles championship title. He is an Aussie army veteran, and played Davis Cup tennis every year from 1933 until 1939. Bill Sidwell, ranked second nationally, Colin Long, and Geoffrey Brown are the other members. All the athletes work for sporting good firms at home, and with the exception of Geoffrey, are husbands and fathers.

Overlooking their great tennis ability for the moment, they are much the same as any other group of young men. They enjoy shopping for neckties and nylons, going to movies and night ball games, and arguing about sports and politics.

They are glad to stay at Brae Burn because it gives them a chance to "play golf to relax" when their tennis is over for the day. They have hired a car and driver to get them around, and can be seen mornings taking the long way to Longwood in order to see the sights of the town.

They are all seasoned globe trotters. This is Adrian's eighth time around the world. He holds numerous world titles and has met and been congratulated by kings and queens. Yet he is always glad to be back at his home in Clifton Gardens, Sydney, "the only normal place in the world," although he admits that life isn't perfect since the price of Australian eggs was abnormally raised from 20 to 40 cents a dozen.

Bill Sidwell's tennis career, like the other players, was interrupted by the war. His first major sports victory was the Australian junior championship in 1940, a few months before he joined the service. He was an RAAF pilot for more than six years. It was a toss up with him after the war whether to take up golf or tennis seriously. He "works at tennis now, and has fun with golf."

24 year old Geoffrey Brown, the youngest, is also the wanderer of the group. He is either off taking pictures somewhere, or looking for "flesh and blood" (stage) shows. He says he can't remember when he didn't play tennis, yet cricket is actually his favorite sport.

Colin Long is the only one of four who ever took tennis lessons. He has been playing the game since he was 8, and decided to take it up seriously 9 years later.

The team thinks Australia is an ideal training ground for future champions. Australia's steady climate, they explain, is fine for yearlong tennis. Grass courts are plentiful and "almost anyone can just pick up the game for himself."

None of them have had a chance yet to make up for the sleep they've lost while traveling. Their playing schedule looks as if they won't until their tour is over. Since they left Australia hardly more than a month ago, they have been in Canton, the Fiji Islands, Honolulu, Cuba, Mexico City, San Francisco, and South Orange, New Jersey. When the Longwood challenge round and the national doubles are over, they will be off again to play in New York and then in tournaments in California, New Zealand, and finally home again to Australia, where the tennis season will be just beginning again.

Tennis, besides being a business with them, is their greatest love. They don't really mind being called tennis players as much as they say they do, but they would like the people in the galleries who expect miracles and colorful upsets to remember that they are "only human, you know."

Those who have followed the political career moves of Don Gibbs have claimed his very successful record in business is primarily responsible for his success and ability in the civic matters. Proof is substantiated in this by these facts:

He is Vice-President and Assistant Treasurer of the Kendall Paper Company; Treasurer of the Waterproof Sales Company; Vice-President and Director of the Bryant and Stratton School.

It is expected that his campaign cry "GIBBS MEANS BUSINESS" will alert civic minded Newtonians into going to the polls on September 14th and nominating Don Gibbs for State Senator. His determination and popularity should win him the Senate post.

Finals in Junior Tennis Tournament Closes Session

Last Friday before an interested gallery, the finals of the Newton Junior Tennis Tournament were played at Burr Fildes' Tennis program.

Of special interest to the players and the large gallery was a radio broadcast that was made by WCRB just before the players took to the courts. After tennis supervisor Bill Powers told announcer Bill Sherman some interesting facts about the Newton's tennis program, each finalist was interviewed. Then, the focus of attention was returned to the courts.

Many times the crowd was brought to its feet by brilliant rallies, or by spectacular volleys. According to Mr. Powers, these eight finalists displayed some of the finest tennis that has been seen in junior tournaments this year. For example, eleven-year-old Joan Lafford showed marvelous ability and poise as she played a hard match with 15-year-old Sally O'Neill. Both Fred Dauten and Paul Lafford, boys' finalists, gave indications of possible future greatness, and so the celebration could go.

After the last point was played C. Evans Johnson, recreation commissioner, presented to the winners and runners-up their prizes. These, incidentally, were generously donated by the Chamber of Commerce, Regan's Sporting Goods, and the Newton Lodge of Elks.

The results were as follows:
Girls (15 and under) Joan Lafford (d) Sally O'Neill 7-5, 6-4.
Jr. girls (18 and under) Katherine Garanto (d) Anne Scott 6-4, 6-4.
Boys (15 and under) Fred Dauten (d) Paul Lafford 6-2, 6-2.
Jr. boys (18 and under) Robert Rich (d) Jay Lane 6-3, 6-3.

solicitation his division is the largest in the campaign.

The Newton Community Chest is the largest affiliate of the Greater Boston Community Fund and as President of that organization Dr. Alter has many important duties and responsibilities. His acceptance of this responsible position in the 1949 Campaign is an indication of his public interest and of his willingness to serve not only the Red Feather services of his own city but those of the whole Greater Boston area.

Dr. Alter has been a director of the Newton Community Chest for three years, has served as Budget Committee member and Chairman, and was its vice-president before becoming president, in which position he is serving his second year. In Greater Boston Campaigns he has been chairman of the Schools and Colleges group and of the Institutions Division. Last year he was a valued member of the Speakers' Bureau.

Dr. Alter's interest in this community service stems from the fact that "this is a very personal kind of support of the Red Feather services which are doing neighborly work so much better than we ourselves could possibly do."

There Will Be No 'Cuss' Words In The New Army

The new army "isn't what it used to be."

And many of the objections Mother had with the "draft" Army in the early days of the late unpleasantness are no longer valid objections. For the Army, into which thousands of young Americans are headed a few months hence, has been changed in many ways. The changes were first tried in the Army's experimental units at the Universal Military Training Center at Fort Knox, Kentucky. The success of these new ideas in military training has caused them to be incorporated in the training plans for Regular Army units.

No longer will Mother have reason to be fearful lest her son learn some "cuss" words he never knew before, from some tough Army sergeant. Under the new set-up, the Army just doesn't let the "tough, old" sergeants swear at recruits. The average "tough, old" sergeant in today's Army by the way, is about 24 years old.

The edict against swearing is part of the Army's new approach toward recruiting and training recruits to become good soldiers. Patience with newcomers has supplanted the old "bawling-out" method that many recruits used to think was a favorite pastime with the old soldiers.

The Army chaplain (minister, priest or rabbi to you) plays an important role in the Army's plans for training its new draft Army. Whenever possible, the new men will be given individual interviews with chaplains and strongly encouraged to attend a church of their own choice. The chaplains will send letters to parents, from time to time, to keep them posted about their young sons, many of whom will be away from home for the first time. The assistance of communities in the vicinity of camps will be sought to provide wholesome, attractive, and interesting recreational and entertainment facilities for the new soldier.

The facilities of the United States Armed Forces Institute, the largest educational enterprise in the world will be available to the selectee or enlistee. The Army puts considerable stress on its educational program which will enable the draftee to continue his formal education in off-duty time. Courses will be available which will fit directly into the educational plans of the soldier; most of those courses being accredited by civilian educational institutions.

Davenport, Iowa, located on the Mississippi river, is an important railroad and shipping center.

WAC Deadline Extended

Officers and former officers of the WAC and other Armed Services, will have an additional fifteen days in which to obtain application blanks and apply for commission in the Women's Army Corps, Regular Army, and in the United States Air Force, Major Douglas A. McKillop, Commanding the Army and Air Force Recruiting Station, 55 Tremont street in Boston, said today.

The extension of the deadline is from August to midnight 31 August, 1948. Application blanks may be obtained from the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Main Station, 55 Tremont street in Boston.

—To the state of New York belongs the honor of having held the first agricultural fair, later and now a valuable asset in each state. The idea was originated by Alkanah Watson, a resident of Albany, in 1819.

World Council Of Churches At Amsterdam Aug. 22

no longer can G.O.P. orators accuse Democratic office-seekers of having Communistic backing. This time the Communists to a man are lined up in Wallace's corner.

From a national standpoint, however, you can't underestimate Wallace's importance in the coming Presidential race. If the fight is a close one, New York State could well decide it, and the total Wallace rolls up there may drop that batch of electoral votes into Dewey's pocket.

Terminal Leave Pay Deadline Is Sept. 1

A warning was issued to all New England Army veterans today by Lt. Colonel O. R. Bowyer, United States Army Finance officer at the Boston Army Base, that applications for terminal leave pay will not be accepted after Sept. 1.

Adding that some applications, submitted after the Sept. 1 deadline, perhaps will be accompanied by tearful pleas or explanations as to why the claim is late, Colonel Bowyer said: "It will be unpleasant for me to have to turn them down. Certainly it will be a disappointment for the veterans who are refused payment. But the postmark deadline of Sept. 1, 1948, is fixed and absolute. I cannot change or disregard the law."

Bank Official Urges Vets To Be Cautious in Buying

Can the VA and the banks satisfy every veteran who is interested in achieving home ownership with the help of the G.I. Home Loan Plan?

Warner M. Allen, Executive Secretary of the Massachusetts Co-operative Bank League was a logical authority to whom to put this question. By virtue of his personal experience as a bank treasurer and also the wealth of information and facts channeled through his headquarters, Mr. Allen had certain observations to make in connection with this question.

"To begin with," observed Mr. Allen, "it is only reasonable to believe that there will be some veterans who will not be satisfied with the recommendations and decisions of either the VA or the banks. Some of those veterans will fail to realize that there is almost a partnership relationship between the VA and the banks in their joint efforts to protect a veteran from going 'overboard' in securing living quarters. Both the VA and the banks are well aware that pressure of circumstances can cause a man to do almost anything. It is not lack of sympathetic appreciation that causes them to sometimes deny a loan application. . . rather is it a sincere effort to protect a veteran against assuming an unwise obligation, no matter how great his need may be. They know that a burdensome financial obligation can be more overpowering and distressing, than inadequate living quarters."

"Unfortunately," points out Mr. Allen, "a man who is refused a loan may permit himself to feel that the G. I. Home Loan Plan is no good and he may not hesitate to say so in plenty of words. This is a natural result of disappointment, but in due time that same man will be deeply grateful for the protection afforded him by the VA and the bank."

The fact that less than one-tenth of one per-cent of all loans made have been in default stands as irrefutable evidence of the care and thoroughness with which loans have been made. Since the G. I. loan program started, 1,300,000 loans have been made with a total valuation of $7,100,000,000. This, of course, includes business and farm loans as well as home loans.

Asked to specify some ways in which the VA and the banks endeavored to protect veterans, Mr. Allen pointed out three. "First of all," he said, "a veteran should be protected against paying too high a price for a property. In this connection, the banks, as community home financing institutions, are in the best position to determine 'proper' values. The local experience and the knowledge of property trends, conditions, and values possessed by these specialists is the best available. Through the years, certain practices, policies, and conclusions have been arrived at which have their foundation in facts. . . facts based upon actual experience in working with countless thousands of people, in all income classifications, interested in home ownership."

"To permit a Veteran," continued Mr. Allen, "to pay too high a price for a property is not helping him. . . rather is it simply permitting him to become saddled with an obligation which will keep him financially anemic for much too long a period. A home mortgage is ordinarily a relatively long-term agreement, running in some instances up to twenty years. Many things can happen in fifteen or twenty years, and not all of them good!"

"Another protection," he added, "is afforded the veteran by determining that his income is adequate to carry the property. If his income is insufficient otherwise is any likelihood of its becoming so, it would obviously be unwise for the VA to approve or the bank to grant the loan. Even though a man might be willing to scrimp and sacrifice to make his loan repayments, it would still be unwise because the physical and mental hardships of such scrimping and sacrificing could in time become unbearable."

"A third protection is provided the veteran when the VA and the bank analyze his capabilities as to operating the type of property he is interested in. For example, consider a veteran of 23, with a wife and three children, buying a rooming house with a dozen hardboiled roomers to contend with! And think that some haven't considered situations fully as complicated as this example!"

Veterans still have nine years in which to make G. I. Home Loans. Thus, they are not pushed by any time-limit of the law to accomplish a loan in a hurry. If they can wait out the current inflation period, as many are doing, they will still have time to derive the benefits of the G. I. Home Loan Plan.

In conclusion, Mr. Allen pointed out that unless a bank heartily endorses and recommends that a veteran make a proposed purchase, he better leave the proposition alone. A bank, as a specialist in home financing, has plenty of experience with which to back up its judgement and decisions. A veteran should be deeply grateful that there is someone who has enough interest in his affairs to save him from a "going off the deep end" financially, finds neither pleasure nor profit in refusing a loan application.

Animal Rescue League Urges Care of Pets

The Animal Rescue League of Boston urges everyone who has acquired a pet of any kind during the summer, not to leave the animal deserted at some beach resort. If it is not possible to take the animal home, it will be properly taken care of, if sent to the SPCA or Animal Rescue League. A letter from the league follows:

Please do not neglect your pets at the close of vacation. Early in the summer we appealed to you who might be moving or leaving for a vacation to make satisfactory arrangements for your pet—dog, cat, bird, or other animal.

Now we ask that you make plans about the disposition of any pet which you may have acquired at your summer home. Make arrangements far enough in advance to prevent the animal's not being found at the last minute when the house is about to be closed.

Animals deserted at beaches and summer resorts suffer greatly. They become diseased, hungry, and hopelessly lost, and as such are a menace to the health and safety of the community and to wild life.

If you take an animal with you to your winter home, be sure that he is kept in, or under control while outside, for some time so that he will not go away. Some animals, cats in particular, do not adjust themselves readily to changes and may show a desire to return to their summer habitats.

Make proper provision for the disposition of any animal which you cannot take with you. Leave him in reliable hands or take him to an SPCA or Animal Rescue League where he will either be placed in a new home or humanely put away.

Whatever happens, do not turn him out to take care of himself. We are sure you will not when you realize not only the suffering to the animal which would be involved, but the threat to public health as well.

Walter J. Dethloff, President, Animal Rescue League of Boston, 51 Carver street, HANCOCK 6-6170.

Best Chance for a Cool Meal Is Breakfast First Thing in Morn

Breakfast hath charms to soothe a summer's day. Later the sun may seethe in the sky, the breeze bog down in soggy heat, but the one who's made the most of his morning meal has already had a soothing snare of tranquility at breezy breakfast time!

And how those cool, cool breakfast foods beckon you to enjoy a refreshing morning meal? Deliciously chilly the fruit that's sojourning night-long in the refrigerator. Gratefully crisp the cereal breakfast foods always ready to pour from box to bowl for summer servings quick as that! A splash of icy milk and a frosting of sugar for that ready-to-eat cereal and the breakfast main dish is all set for another pleasant summer morning meal.

Year-Round Basic Pattern Guides Good Breakfast

In summer, as in winter, the same basic pattern of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter is a reliable guide to getting a good breakfast. So versatile are the foods within this pattern that they adapt readily to summer enjoyment. This basic breakfast pattern gives you from a fourth to a third of the day's nutritional needs at breakfast time. It is equally urgent to get this breakfast quota of nutrition in summer as in winter. Once missed at breakfast, it is almost impossible to catch up on this nutrition at other meals, and even less likely in summer that you'd do the "stuffing" at lunch and dinner that would be required to attempt to make up the lost nutrition at breakfast time.

To "stand the heat" you need stamina. Bolster that stamina at breakfast when it's a real pleasure to sit down to the cool foods that compose a modern morning meal. Play up the happy accident that breakfast is the coolest meal of the day. Use tablecloths or mats in cool colors—snowy white, pale green, delicate blue—to underscore the coolness of the occasion. Enhance the happiness of this family meal with a bowl of flowers from the garden.

Vary the breakfast foods appetizingly. There are almost two dozen different breakfast cereals to keep up interest in the main course. Try topping the cereal with fruit occasionally for a cool telescoping of the fruit and cereal courses. For a change, make a rim of fruit around the cereal bowl of sliced peaches or whole washed berries—so pretty, so appetite-inviting. When fruit juice precedes the cereal, deck it with a sprig of mint once in a while, or let it cool wedge of lemon accompany the tomato juice to table.

Newton Angler

By FRED J. HOGGADT, Deputy Warden

From coast to coast, the pleasure anglers will have a day dedicated to them: Saturday, August 28. In most communities, organizations will conduct a "Better Fishing Rodco" and let the teen-agers do the fishing on that day.

Director Robert H. Johnson of the Fish and Game Division announced last week a split season of waterfowl for this year. Ducks and geese can be hunted from October 29 to November 9 and again December 28 to January 8. Scoters in open coastal waters from October 20 to December 16. Elders in open coastal waters from October 20 to December 16. Rails except Sora October 29 to November 28 Woodcock from October 20 to November 18. There will be a closed season on brant and wood duck.

Shooting Hours

Except for opening day on each waterfowl season, (September 19, October 29 and December 28) when no hunting will be allowed, before 12 o'clock noon, shooting hours for this year for ducks, geese and rails will be from one half hour before sunrise to one hour before sunset. Woodcock hours are from one half hour before sunrise to sunset.

The bag limit on waterfowl, except geese, elders, scoters and mergansers are four per day and a possession limit of eight. On geese the daily bag and possession limit is one. On scoters and elders, seven birds singly or in the aggregate per day with possession limit of 14. Mergansers, 25 daily with no possession limit after the opening day.

Only one duck hunter in a thousand returned a waterfowl score card report to the U. S. Wildlife Service after the 1947 season according to a recent report issued by the Wildlife Management Institute. The sportsmen's response was disheartening. Director Albert M. Day stated, especially when statistical data is needed vitally.

Disappointing

Only 1,962 hunters filed cards in spite of the widespread publicity campaign by the sporting and conservation magazines which often contributed space at the expense of paid advertising. The response was so poor and the percentage of returns so small that the figures obtained have little value.

Hunting and fishing is a big business, and a big asset to our state. Although I have not seen any recent report of any survey made in our state, it would be really interesting to have one made.

I have just seen a report made in the State of Ohio during 1947 which showed that $85,000,000 was spent by sportsmen during that year. This money was spent by sporting goods stores, filling stations, hotels, boat liverys, hardware stores, kennels and many other businesses. The report stated that 9,158 Ohio firms are dependent directly upon the wildlife resources of that state. This report was made up from 18 canvassers who covered the state.

After polling nearly 5,000 hunters and 3,000 fishermen the survey crew found that the average hunter spent $41.38 during 1947 and the average fisherman spent $56.95 in that state. It was found that 31.1 percent of the average hunter's expenditures were for clothing, 28.98 percent for guns, 17.77 percent for ammunition, 12.08 percent for gas and oil and lesser amount for meals, lodging and other items.

The fishermen reported that 22.15 percent of the money he spent was on fishing tackle, 15.48 percent for gas and oil, 8.71 percent for meals, 6.07 percent for lodging, 6.16 percent for bait and 4.86 for clothing. How does this compare with your expenditures in this area?

One in Seven

It was also interesting to note that at least one million persons, or one in every seven, of the state's population either fished or hunted or both.

I have had a number of requests from local stripper fishermen asking for tags so they can tag the small stripers they are returning back to water. These tags are not available at this time and Henry Lyman, editor of Salt Water Sportsman, who is heading up that tagging program, says they will not be ready for delivery until late August.

These tags are now being manufactured by a Chicago source of supply. They will be ready for the late run of stripers. The tagging program will really not be started as had been planned until next spring.

Local fresh water fishing is now at its best of the season. Bass are usually slow during this part of August and again become active during September but they continue to be real active this month and most of the local anglers are enjoying some good fishing. Some good bass are being taken from the Charles River; saw a number of bass weighing from two to three pounds during the past week. Charles River Village, upriver beyond the dam at Dover, continues to be real active and a number of good bass have been brought back at John Howard's during the past week.

Pickeral also continue real active and most of them were taken in the Medfield and Millis section. The boys fishing from boats and using live bait were the most successful. Pickeral also were real active in the Charles River at Needham and Jack Walsh took a 32-inch fish up in the bend of the river at Volks Field.

Carp have become increasingly active during the past week and a few of the boys fishing from the bridge at Dover on the Sherborn Road took a number of them all weighing from six to ten pounds. These boys were bottom fishing with light tackle and sure had a lot of fun landing them.

Hornpout Good

Hornpout fishing has also been real good and two boys fishing between the Dedham Boathouse and the mouth of Mother Brook the other night took quite a catch but not large in size.

New Pond in Norwood is being heavily fished and a number of good size fish are being taken daily. Bob Everson of Norwood took a 26 inch pickeral on a spinner last weekend. Lake Pearl in Wrentham continues real active with medium white perch and a few bass.

Rhode Island legislators recently voted 15 to 1 on a program to check pollution of their waters. This was spearheaded by a group of sportsmen's clubs who got all citizens interested to make the drive possible.

The legislature has enacted five anti-pollution laws and has granted an appropriation of $5,000,000 for this year. We sure need some program such as this in our state to save our fast vanishing fish and game. It's up to the sportsmen to start up something like the Rhode Island program.

This pollution program also covers polluted salt water areas in that state and the first steps to be taken under their program is to clean up the polluted area of Narragansett Bay which has been closed to all shell fishing.

Wigwam Pond in Dedham has produced some good sized fish over the past weekend and a number of the younger local anglers have had good results fishing from the shore. The stocking sponsored by the Dedham Fish and Hunt Association has paid off at this point.

NEWTON FIRE DEPARTMENT

FIRE PREVENTION SERVICE

A careful study of fires causing large loss of life proved that the deadly quality of the products of combustion passing through vertical and horizontal openings and enveloping the entire structure before the fire department response was responsible for the great number of lives lost. Failure to discover the fire in its early stages resulted in most of our fires of conflagration proportion—Churches, because of their open construction, cocklofts and the fact that they are so continuously without occupancy, are nearly always a total wreck. The lives of those in hospitals, schools and public and private institutions are dependent upon discovery of fire in the first few minutes.

Automatic Fire Detection is the answer. Many devices which are sensitive to heat, smoke and gases, have been developed which if properly installed and maintained would give the alarm of fire in time to save both lives of those endangered and also give the Fire Department a chance to control the fire in its incipency.

For years we have known the action of both fixed temperature thermostat and the one operating on a rapid rise of heat greater than that normal to the occupancy. These have both given a degree of life and property protection far beyond the cost of their installation.

More recently devices have been developed which operate by the use of the Electric Eye and which give the alarm on the slightest appearance of smoke. There are many places where this type is especially adaptable.

A later type now is available which is sensitive to the radiated heat waves—similar to the radio wave which serves your set. The rays of the sun or the ordinary lighting circuits do not affect this action. This delicate mechanism is very sensitive and gives immediate response.

The dependability of any system of Automatic Fire Detection depends upon the design, the materials used, the workmanship, the functioning of the warning signal, the reliability of the actuating current supply and

Two-in-One Biscuits Make Use Of Left-Over, Low Cost Meats

Economy in meal planning means attention to small details—like using leftovers, purchasing of seasonal foods, getting the most for your money whenever a food item is added to the market basket.

Two-in-One biscuits make excellent use of a cup or so of leftover meat or fresh ground meat, always less expensive because it does not need to be tender. Enriched flour in the biscuits gives more for your money because it contains added B-vitamins and iron at no additional cost.

A saving in time is accomplished by using the oven for foods that Summer makes inexpensive, yet they provide just the right color touch.

Tomatoes and asparagus are the entire menu. Place the asparagus in a flat, shallow pan with just enough water to cover the bottom of the pan. Season to taste, and bake uncovered until tender, turning the spears just once. The tomatoes are cut in half, brushed with melted butter or margarine and heated until they bubble.

Two-in-One Biscuits
1 cup sifted enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 to 2 tablespoons shortening
2/3 cup milk

1 1/2 cups ground meat be either cooked or uncooked. Salt and pepper to taste. Sift together flour, salt and baking powder. Cut or rub in shortening. Add milk to make a very soft batter. Fill greased muffin pans, one-third full with seasoned meat.

Pour batter on top of meat, filling pan two-thirds full. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400°)

30 to 40 minutes. Remove from pans. Turn upside down and serve with grilled tomatoes.

Yield: Six three-inch biscuits.

Savory Beef
(using left-over beef)
Simmer 1 1/2 cups tomatoes, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 cloves and 1/3 cup beef gravy for fifteen minutes, and press through a sieve; add 1 1/2 cups diced leftover roast beef, 2 cups cooked spaghetti and 1/2 medium onion.

Pour mixture into a greased baking dish; cover with 1/2 cup bread crumbs which have been mixed with 1 tablespoon butter and 2 tablespoons beef drippings.

Bake in a moderate oven about fifteen minutes. A No. 1 can of concentrated tomato soup may be used in place of the tomato sauce. Any meat may be used. Four to five servings.

Scissors dipped in water or flour facilitates the cutting of marshmallows.

Your Health and Mine

By PHYLLIS LOCKE

The bedwetter has been a problem both to his parents and to the physician since man became civilized and began to keep his house in a state of order. Boys are more frequently involved than girls in this rather distressing condition. Although bladder control is generally established somewhere between 13 months and three years of age, we are not disturbed when a child has not gained full bladder control by his fourth year. After this age, however, bedwetting becomes distinctly abnormal and requires investigation.

Prevention: Good Habits

The best "cure" is, of course, prevention, and in this we can do a great deal to establish good habits in the first two years of the baby's life. Training him to time his bladder habits even before he sits up so that he is accustomed to the feeling of the (toilet seat) becomes of prime importance.

As soon as he can sit erect, he should be placed on the toilet before feeding. After this, five or six trials a day should be given, with the child kept on the seat until he voids. The importance of the conscientious conduct of this program cannot be overestimated. Most children will respond by complete control within the first two years of life.

Throughout the character of most children (over four) involved in the problem of bedwetting there runs an inescapable single factor: laziness. The child is snug in a warm bed, disturbed only by the unpleasant twinges in the bladder region, and safe from what he imagines is lurking out there in the dark. Thus he takes the path of least resistance.

Other Symptoms? In the attempts to cure this habit which is purely on a psychogenic basis, the question of whether psychiatric handling is essential depends on whether the wetting is an isolated symptom or only one of many manifestations which show the child to be seriously disorganized.

Intelligent parental cooperation and family example provide the most important psychologic influence against the bedwetting habit. The affectionate, sympathetic mother accomplishes more than the detached, academic parent or the strict disciplinarian.

The physician is the first port of call—it is he who must establish whether the child has any disease, and if so—to correct it. Once the possibility of disease of the urinary tract has been ruled out, the physician will employ a number of simple procedures, which in most cases will succeed in overcoming the habit.

Restrict Fluids in Diet There is the simple remedy of fluid restriction in the evening and of a "dry" dinner; the elimination in the diet of chocolate, tea and coffee which produce a heightened kidney activity. Highly seasoned foods which often irritate the bladder can be avoided. The child can be awakened periodically at night; with success, the interval between the wakings may be lengthened.

He may be made to sleep on his side rather than his back, if that helps, or the foot of the bed may be raised to decrease the pressure of the internal organs on the bladder.

In conjunction with all of the above, psychologic treatment should be given, environment factors might have to be changed, overindulgence of the child must be altered and in general any psychologic faults in the child must be ferreted out.

Bedwetting has many, many aspects in both causation and treatment, and success can be secured only by dint of hard work and cooperation on the part of the child, the parent and the physician.

August Apples Mate With Meat Make Desserts or Garnishes

August's rosy-cheeked apples offer an opportunity for much newer menu variety.

A simple lunch or supper might feature slices of cold cooked meat from Sunday's pork or veal roast, a perky apple salad, a hot vegetable.

Or, you might make a meat-apple salad, by dicing the cooked meat (any kind) and adding it directly to the salad. A hot vegetable and a fresh quick bread make good accompaniments.

Lightly fried apple rings (slices) or apples poached in sirup or jelly are splendid garnishes with lamb, veal, beef or ham just as you prefer.

Desserts featuring apples are favorites with almost every one: pies, cobbles, tarts and last but not least plump, tender apple dumplings served with creamy vanilla or custard sauce. A jar of homemade pastry or biscuit mix will help you make these desserts in double quick time.

Apple Dumplings
3 cups sifted enriched flour
4 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
3/4 to 1 cup lard
1 cup milk
5 to 6 medium apples, peeled and sliced
1 teaspoon cinnamon
3/4 cup sugar
3 tablespoons butter
Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in the lard until the mixture has a fine even crumb.

Add just enough milk to form a soft dough. Knead 30 seconds. Roll to 1/8-inch thickness. Cut into 5-inch squares.

Combine apples with cinnamon and sugar. Fill centers of biscuit squares with apple mixture. Dot with butter. Draw up the corners of the dough to completely cover the apples.

Turn over on greased cookie sheet and prick the top surface of dumplings. Bake in a moderate oven (375°) for 25 to 40 minutes. Yield: 8 dumplings.

Sweet Potato Cups
2 cups mashed, unseasoned sweet potatoes
2 tablespoons melted butter
3/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup chopped pecans
1/2 teaspoon orange rind steeped in

1/2 cup unstrained orange juice
15 marshmallows
Mix first six ingredients thoroughly. Place 1/2 cup mixture in greased custard cups. Cups should be about half full. Place three marshmallows over potato mixture, pressing down firmly. Bake in moderate oven (350°) 15 minutes. Serve in cups, 5 servings.

Baked Sweet Potatoes
Scrub potatoes thoroughly with a brush, using cold water. Rinse thoroughly with clear water. Unless every trace of soil or dust is removed, the delicate flavor will not have a chance to be as good as it should be.

Lay directly on the oven rack or place on a shallow baking sheet and place in a moderate oven (375°) and bake until very tender when tested with a fork. Potatoes 2 inches in diameter and from 5 to 6 inches long should bake from 50 to 60 minutes.

When done, slit the skin in the form of a cross and squeeze so as to force the flesh out. Top with a pat of butter and a dash of paprika and serve immediately. Two pounds potatoes serve four.

Sour Eggs
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup water
1/4 teaspoon vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg yolk (optional)
3 to 4 eggs
Melt butter in medium size skillet, add flour, then water, slowly stirring constantly to keep mixture smooth. Cook until bubbly. Add vinegar and salt. Stir well.

If egg yolk is used, pour small amount hot mixture over beaten yolk, stir well, combine with remaining hot mixture. Set pan over low heat, then slip eggs into sauce one by one. Cover tightly and poach 2 to 3 minutes. Remove lid and baste eggs with hot mixture until tops are filmed. Remove to serving plates with sauce onto toast. Three to four servings.

Swordfish Is Favorite Dish

Long known and recognized as the "quality" fish of New England, fresh swordfish will be available in largest supply during the month of August. Swordfishermen cruise offshore waters from Block Island to Nova Scotia from June to September, but it is in August they have their best luck.

In a recent popularity poll conducted by the Massachusetts Fisheries Association, 4,376 women said that—next to haddock—swordfish was their favorite fish. This indicates the overwhelming popularity of swordfish, which is caught in small amount as compared with haddock and also is considerably higher in price.

Swordfish is at its best when broiled, although it is good both baked and fried. Thick steaks entirely free from bones are cut from this large fish. Swordfish has a rich, indescribable flavor which differentiates it from any other fish.

Swordfish either sleep or drift lazily at the surface of the water on calm, sunny days and pay such little attention to their surroundings that they may be approached and harpooned. The average weight of swordfish brought into the Boston Fish Pier is between 200 and 300 pounds, although in 1921 a swordfish that weighed 915 pounds dressed was brought to the Boston Fish Pier.

The swordfish is a fighting fish, armed with a sword which is capable of splintering the sides of a dory. Along with the tunas and sharks, swordfish are the largest known fish of the seas. Imported frozen swordfish may be obtained throughout the year.

Makes Offer to Buy Newtonville Land

William C. Sherman, 14 Clark road, West Newton, has made an offer to the city for the purchase of city owned land near the present waiting room in Newtonville square and if acted on favorably, proposes to erect a lunch bar and waiting room. The offer of $1200 will be considered by the finance committee of the board of aldermen at a later date.

A recent analysis of U. S. Navy personnel figures shows that over 46% of the present Regular Navy officers are former enlisted men.

Household Hints

I made a white pine night stand and stained it mahogany, then varnished it. I rubbed it down with burlap saturated with rubbing oil and pumice, wiped it clean and varnished it again. The surface became very rough and the varnish congealed. So I rubbed it with pumice stone, but cannot get it as smooth as it was after the first varnish coat. Should I use steel wool? What do you suggest?

Your mistake was in varnishing over the oil. Varnish requires a smooth dry surface. Now you must remove the present coats with varnish remover and sandpaper. When the surface is bare again, apply a coat of varnish, allow it to dry, and sand it. Repeat this procedure for three or four coats. As a final step, you can give the night stand a rub down with rottenstone or powdered pumice and linseed oil, or a coat of pastewax rubbed in hard.

My husband carries an indelible pencil in his shirt pocket. One day he forgot to cap the pencil, and now the marks won't come out. Can you suggest anything?

Water will cause the marks to spread and make the stain harder to remove. First soak the stain in denatured alcohol, then sponge it with soap and water if carbon stains remain, or try removing the marks with household bleach.

(1) When waxing furniture is it necessary to remove the old wax first? (2) Is it all right to use car wax, or is a paste wax preferred? (3) How can I remove white perspiration marks from under the arms of my husband's suits? Dry cleaning did not take them out.

(1) The building up of coats of wax on furniture is what makes old pieces so beautiful. (2) Either the hard wax used for automobiles, paste wax, liquid wax or furniture polishes are satisfactory, depending on the type of surface you want. (3) Perspiration in clothing can rarely be removed. If the color is gone, it can't be brought back. You can try these methods but we're not too hopeful of results. Dampen the stain with water, and hold it over the fumes from an open ammonia bottle. Old stains may respond to the fumes of vinegar. An anti-perspirant or shields in suits will prevent future disasters of this kind.

How can I remove grease spots from wallpaper? Sponge the spots with carbon tetrachloride. If they are stubborn, cover with a paste of fuller's earth and carbon tetrachloride, and apply to the spots. Allow it to dry, then flake off the paste, and remove the remainder with a cloth dampened with carbon tetrachloride. Several treatments may be necessary.

Can you tell me how to remove scratch remover stain from a light rose upholstered chair? I've tried soapy cleaners but they don't work. Can oil cloth type wall covering be painted over? Our kitchen is now cream, and I would like to know what will go with it or if it can be painted.

Sponge the stain with carbon tetrachloride. Several treatments may be necessary, and as a last resort it may be necessary to have the chair professionally cleaned. The type of wall covering you mentioned can be painted over, and the job is especially easy with some of the new paints.

DINING with JANE and BILL

Bill: I'm so glad we stopped to buy some corn on our way back from the beach.

Jane: Me too! The corn season is so short that I simply hate to let a single chance go by.

Bill: You're right, and it looked so wonderful too. The husks were a nice moist green, which means they're fresh from the field.

Jane: I read a column by the Newton Nutrition Center saying that corn is really valuable in the diet. It gives us both complete and incomplete proteins, besides energy giving carbohydrate, phosphorus, and Vitamins A, B1, B2, Niacin and C.

Bill: Say you can serve me corn anytime, dripping with nice hot melted butter.

Jane: Okay and if there's any steamed corn left from dinner, I'll make you a delicious meatless main dish that you'll love.

CHEESE CORN FLUFF

1 1/2 cups corn
1/4 cup flour
2 teaspoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard

Use one No. 2 can of cream style corn or 1 1/4 cups fresh corn cut from the cob. Mix flour, sugar, salt and mustard—blend with cold milk. Add beaten egg yolks, fat, cheese and corn; blend well; fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and bake in moderate oven (350° F.)—in pan of water—about 1 hour or until firm. This recipe makes 4 generous servings. Serve with a tossed salad.

My Day Around The House

Monday—Keeping up with the summer fashions? The vogue for white and gold has brought out some of the most attractive costumes in many years. If you'd like to follow along, here's one way. Gild your last year's white shoes. A friend showed me hers today—they were very pretty. She had done a good job, of brushing on the gilt, nice and even. Of course, it may not wear indefinitely but it's an easy matter to touch up again. Try it on play shoes if you're dubious about sacrificing dressy whites.

Tuesday—Note for those who entertain at card parties where a punch is used on score tallies. Save yourself the annoyance of picking up those elusive little paper punchings by adding a cellulose tape receptacle to the punch. Just wedge into the bottom of the punch a small piece of cork or rubber cut from an eraser, then press the tape over the hollow portion. When it's filled, peel off the tape, shake out the punches and apply a new tape.

Wednesday—Ever try crushed peanut brittle as a topping for ice cream? It's surprisingly good. Crush the candy between waxed paper with a rolling pin. It's delicious too, with sponge cake and soft custard sauce. Or sprinkle the fine crumbs over the bottom of the dish in which you bake custard, pour the custard over it.

Thursday—No matter how well your children are trained there will be times when they bring muddy shoes into your newly cleaned kitchen. A reminder at the door may help. One of my neighbors, whose house is always full of youngsters, nailed an old broom head at the side of the back steps. It's been there some time now but is still enough of a curiosity to encourage the children into using it as a shoe scraper. The broom was worn down somewhat, but cut down to a strong stub, it does its scraping efficiently.

Friday—If your white shoes don't wear too well, the fault may be partly with your cleaning methods. Put in shoe trees or stuff them with tissue paper before cleaning, and don't wear them until they're thoroughly dry. Read the label on the cleaner to be sure it's right for your shoes. White shoe soap is good for leather because it cleans without drying the leather. To remove grass stains, brush them off the old polish, then apply a solution of sodium perborate or peroxide. Rinse and polish, but don't wet the shoe more than necessary.

Saturday—We're making 'you-bring-this and I'll bring-that' plans for a family picnic. Perhaps you are too, with a delicious ham the center of attraction on the bountiful table. If you want your home to look as good as is tastes, give it a jelly glaze, red jelly (currant is fine) with 1/4 cup of hot water. Spread this on the ham the last 45 minutes of baking. Stud the scored fat with whole cloves and decorate with halves of candied cherries. Your ham will outshine any picture.

Playing In Street Dangerous

Playing in or near the street is responsible for three out of four child pedestrian deaths and injuries, according to recent community studies cited today by Bert R. Harmon, Safety Director of the Boston Automobile Club.

"Surveys in Philadelphia and Washington, D. C., reported by the American Automobile Association, with which the Auto Club is affiliated, indicate that the play factor was involved in 75 per cent of child pedestrian accidents last year," said Harmon. "In 1947, 2,500 children were killed and 120,000 injured in pedestrian accidents. The youngest of these children, toddlers up to five years of age, had the worst death record," the Club official said, warning parents to "provide attractive play yards away from traffic with one corner of the yard reserved for toys."

"The accident toll of boys and girls in Massachusetts last year was 81 killed and 6,857 injured. Five thousand of these youngsters would have escaped injury if proper play areas had been provided."

Camp Massapoag Closes Successful Season Tonite

This week marks the closing days of another successful camping season at Camp Massapoag, owned and operated by the Cambridge YMCA, a Red Feather Agency.

Located on beautiful Lake Massapoag in Dunstable, this boys summer paradise has played host to over 200 boys. Tonight, Climax Night, will bring the season to a close with the traditional "Roast Snipe" banquet. The presentation of prizes and awards will be made by Lewis F. Hall, camp director.

Swimming has been a very popular activity at the recently improved Rotary waterfront. Cambridge Rotary club, this year contributed funds for a new cabin in the Midget section, housing 8 campers and a counselor.

Several Cambridge Counselors. Hiking, a popular camping experience, has been in charge of Pioneer Counselor, "Hank" Morin, of this city. ## It's Your Business

It holds true in business that "great oaks from little acorns grow." Most of America's successful, growing manufacturing concerns started as "acorn" businesses with hardly more than a good idea or a new product that people might want to buy.

Some might say: "That's very interesting, but what's in it for me when business grows?"

To get the right answer to that question, you've got to consider what makes it possible for a business to grow.

The only way any firm can grow is by giving better service and making better products. Which is just another way of saying that the more business grows, the more you and millions of others benefit in terms of better products at lower prices.

Growing businesses are also good for the average man because they mean more jobs for him to choose from—steadier jobs with greater security for him and his family. When the firm he works for grows, he has a chance to grow along with it.

In addition, even the profits earned by successful firms whether small or large, benefit the employees in terms of better living. Abig share of reasonable profits goes to pay for expansion, which brings more products, more jobs, and greater opportunity.

These profits, by the way, are less than half what a survey shows most Americans would regard as reasonable.

JUST TALKS on common themes by Harry A. Belyea

This column might have any old title but we prefer this one because in using it we can see before us at all times, the creator of it, Arthur G. Staples (A.G.S.) who keeps grinning down from his fourth Estate heaven and whispering, "be yourself, young man!" A.G.S. was considered one of the world's greatest editors. He turned down fabulous offers from big papers in order to remain editor of the Lewiston, Maine Evening Journal. He wanted to live and die among his life-long friends. He delighted in helping ambitious young reporters, many of whom are now famous newsmen.

We remember A.G.S. calling us to his office to congratulate us on a new idea of classified advertising promotion. It was a simple thought. It merely took letters from those getting fast results and publishing them with a bit of humorous comment and a plug for the paper. After the fact on the back, A.G.S. said, "I like your ideas and I think you will go far in this business. BUT the story you used in today's promotional copy was a rehash of one I used a long time ago. Always remember this, be yourself." Well that just about took the starch out of things until we reminded him that Elbert Hubbard once used a similar theme which he stole from Shakespeare and which was originated so far as we could learn, by Bacon. You see, Milton Berle isn't original even in his well known plagiarism.

This advice of A.G.S. has proved valuable. We find that the majority of people are so busy using the ideas of others, that they create none of their own. That makes the field wide open to those who will think for themselves. If you will analyse the careers of outstanding men and women, you will find without exception that they dared to be themselves. Try it sometimes, it's a lot of fun.

Many from Newton Receive Degrees at B.U. Commencement

"It was the First World War that gave Russia Communism and a Third World War will probably give it to the world," Dr. Daniel L. Marsh declared at Boston University's 34th annual Summer Session Commencement exercise for 850 students, more than four times the size of normal summer graduating classes, which were held last Sunday afternoon in Symphony Hall, Boston.

Lashing out against forces drawing us toward war as a solution to the problems facing the world, in his Commencement address, "The Last Hope of Mankind Rests With Us," Dr. Marsh said that "we must teach the peoples of the world to stop glorifying war. We must teach them the ugly, naked truth that war is the summation of all villainies, and that it generally worse than the thing it is waged to overcome." He urged a strong international organization, increase in personal and business freedom, and declared that personal integrity and morality are fundamental sources of a strong, virile nation.

Although summer graduation is a simpler procedure than the annual spring exercises, the six-week course of concentrated

What will Happen to Your Business?

When the owner dies, his business may be Sold,
Managed by a member of his family,
Managed by someone else for the benefit of his family.

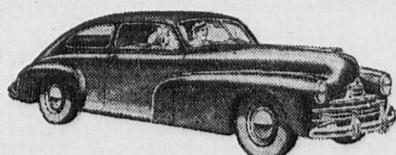

All too often creditors force the sale of a business because the owner failed to make proper arrangements to have it continued.

If you want your business continued by a member of your family, or by someone else for the benefit of your family, you should make adequate provisions in your will for this.

To properly safeguard your family's future, you should make sure that your family will continue to get income from your business or will be able to dispose of the business at a fair price. In making plans to gain either of these objectives, you might find helpful the experience we have had in handling estates of people who owned their own businesses. We should be glad to talk to you and your attorney about this matter at any time.

Purpose of Civil Service

The reason behind enactment of Civil Service laws was for the purpose of protecting Federal, State and Municipal workers against indiscriminate and political hiring and firing of public employees and to make for greater efficiency among public employees. To that extent Civil Service laws were enacted and to that extent does the Civil Service Commission function.

So far as the rate of wages paid for any given work is concerned, every municipality establishes, by its own action, the rate to be paid for that particular type of work.

The Civil Service Commission has no jurisdiction on the setting of salaries or wages paid in any municipality. Every community establishes its own rates. The Civil Service Commission must accept the rate given by each and every community when a vacancy occurs.

Chapter 31 of the General Laws clearly defines the duties of the Civil Service Commission and among other things states in section 3 the following:

The board shall, subject to the approval of the governor and council, from time to time make rules and regulations which shall regulate the selection of persons to fill appointive positions in the government of the commonwealth, the several cities thereof, and any such towns as have been placed under its jurisdiction by any act of the general court or by accepting provisions of this chapter or corresponding provisions of earlier laws, and, except as otherwise provided in section forty-seven, the selection of persons to be employed as laborers or otherwise in the service of the commonwealth and said cities and towns. Such rules shall be of general or limited application, shall be consistent with law and shall include provisions for the following:

- The classification of the positions and employments to be filled;
- Open competitive and other examinations to test the practical fitness of applicants;
- The selection of persons for public positions and employments in accordance with the results of such examinations, or in the order of application, or otherwise;
- Promotions, if practicable, on the basis of ascertained merit in the examination and seniority of service;
- A period of probation before an appointment or employment is made permanent;
- Preference to veterans in appointment and promotion, not inconsistent with this chapter.

Parents—

da Berman, both of Newton, and Mary Ann McGillivray and Elizabeth Breed from Waban.

A group of the nursery and kindergarten children played games on the lawn, including Farmer in the Dell, Follow the Leader and Drop the Handkerchief, while their admiring parents beamed to see the joy and happiness derived from these activities.

During the morning all of the campers enjoyed pony rides, also, received certificates and ribbons as awards for the skill acquired during the camp season in the various sports and crafts.

The campers took over the next part of the program, after Mr. Holbrook, the director, had welcomed the parents and friends to Camp Matocka. The Indian Village was presided over by the Indian chief seated in front of his tepee, and surrounded by the campers many in their Indian costumes, all wearing headaddresses. The camp song was sung by the campers. A dance was presented by some of the kindergarten group to the tune of Indian Love Call. The Indian Warrior Dance was extremely well acted by the older boys along with excellent singing.

There was a great deal of contrast in the minuet which followed by the older girls.

Mr. Holbrook spoke to the gathering for a few moments and stated that it has been one of the happiest and most gratifying summers he has spent with a group of campers. He believes that each camper has enjoyed the healthy activities and pleasant environment and he hopes that each camper has benefited by their summer at Camp Matocka.

The announcement was made for the overnight camping trip for the boys on Monday. All equipment would be brought to camp and they will leave after lunch for the Cabot Reservation. Returning to camp on Tuesday afternoon. A group of 25 boys are expected to enjoy this outing.

A reunion will take place in December. There will be a banquet and the many rolls of color films taken during this summer's activities will be shown to the campers, their parents and friends.

Many campers are planning to return to Camp Matocka next summer.

To continue the happy friendships made at camp, many children plan to continue to meet and winter for arts, crafts, hobbies and other activities.

FISH STORY!

Newton In The Past

55 YEARS AGO
August 25, 1893

NEWTON—The consensus of opinion here among the old time fire laddies is that the "Nonatum" is a star tub and capable of winning a good share of the prize money offered in the various tournaments. Its performance at Worcester, where it won fourth prize, is considered very creditable, especially when it is remembered that all the crack tubs of the state entered the competition.

The Nonatum Industrial School will hold its annual exhibition of the work of its pupils next Tuesday at 3 o'clock in the Athenaeum Building, Dalby street. The new electric road from Newtonville to Watertown passes very near the building and it is hoped many will avail themselves of this opportunity to see what has been accomplished during the summer.

NEWTONVILLE—The trustees of the Newton Cemetery have purchased of Henry Ross, the property on the corner of Walnut and Homer streets, comprising seven acres of land and several houses, and will probably add it to the cemetery grounds. As this property adjoins the cemetery, it is wise for the cemetery to control it, so that no undesirable buildings can be constructed there.

August 26, 1898

WEST NEWTON—The old Hotel Block at the corner of Watertown and Washington streets is being thoroughly repaired.

The Newton and Boston Street Railway will open its new line to Union Square, Allston, on Sunday making connections with the West End cars for Boston.

Why do our American citizens go to Burns' for their haircutting? Because he has won an enviable reputation and the full endorsement of prominent Newtonians for his excellency of taste in artistic hair cutting. Burns', Cole's Block.

Letter to the Editor

Appears to Violate Ordinance
Editor, The Newton Graphic:

Several large outdoor signs have appeared during the past few weeks in various parts of Newton, advertising the candidacy of one of my opponents in the contest for State Senator. This type of advertising appears to violate both the letter and spirit of our city ordinances, which were designed to limit the use of such signs in order to protect the appearance of the city. The ordinances (Chapter 36) require a petition, a hearing by the aldermen, and a permit to be issued before such signs can be displayed. The building code, article 24, also requires them to be of metal if more than two feet wide. Apparently no permit for these signs has been issued.

The real threat to Newton is not so much the violation of a particular ordinance, as the adoption of an obviously planned program for introducing billboard advertising for the first time in this city. The logical result will be more and larger signs in the future from various contestants, until the landscape is littered with ads. In the past the city authorities have prevented this. Personally, I do not think Newton needs to change to billboards in place of an examination of the candidate's record.

Curiously enough the candidate being promoted by these displays has been basing his campaign on the fact that he has been for some time a member of the city government and is thoroughly familiar with its laws, and aware of its needs. In fact he has been chairman of the committee on licenses which passes on advertising permits. I am not interested in seeing fines levied against any of the property owners where the signs are located. Probably most of them did not realize that they were being asked to do anything illegal when they permitted the signs to be erected and they may voluntarily remove them when they learn it. But I am sorry that any candidate would accept the dubious benefit of tactics that cheapen the community in order to win a nomination, and I regret to see Newton's traditions of dignified, clean campaigning tossed on the ash heap.

RICHARD H. LEE

Wallace Supporters Out to Beat Congressman Herter . . . Progressive Party Strategists Hope to Swing Enough Republican Votes to Elect Their Candidate

Newton and many other cities will be the setting for a congressional battle this autumn that is almost certain to attract nation-wide attention and may propel Congressman Christian A. Herter into even greater prominence than he now enjoys.

Supporters of Henry A. Wallace, who exploded a political bombshell early this year when they captured a congressional seat in New York City, have decided to make their big Massachusetts drive against Herter.

They know they can't carry this state for Wallace, but for some reason they have reached the conclusion that they may wrest away Herter's seat, presumably because Wallace has a large number of followers in the Herter district, and a high proportion of them are Republicans.

At first glance the disposition is to dismiss the threat to Herter as preposterous. He has been an excellent congressman. He has provided a high standard of service for his district, and he won the award of Colliers magazine this year as the outstanding member of the national House.

But it isn't a fight Herter's supporters can afford to take too lightly, and you may be sure that Herter himself, aware of what happened in New York when both Democratic and Republican leaders underestimated the strength of the Wallace movement, will not attempt to coast in this contest.

A few weeks ago, several Democrats pondered the possibility of challenging Herter next November and decided it would be a waste of time. There was little that could be said against him or his public record. They could see scant point to staging a futile fight against him.

Unwittingly, the Democrats left the opening for the Wallace wing to make their drive against Herter, for in a last-minute move the Wallace forces entered their candidate in the Democratic primary, and he has no opposition for the Democratic nomination.

They're realistically basing part of their strategy on the expectation that their man will poll a sizeable vote from persons who will observe the Democratic label and will promptly mark a cross beside his name.

As the Wallace strategists see it, if Walter O'Brien, of Beacon Hill, the union leader, who is running as both the Democratic and Progressive Party candidate, polls anything approaching a normal Democratic vote they may be able to swing enough Republican votes to elect him.

This writer does not know how Candidate O'Brien feels about Communism, but he was one of the Massachusetts delegates to the Wallace convention at Philadelphia a few weeks ago, and he certainly raised no voice against the Communist sentiments expressed by some of the speakers or the pink theme that underscored the entire convocation.

Even though public attention will be centered on the top-level fights for President and Governor, Newton residents should remember that a political coup is being attempted which, if successful, would see one of the disciples of Henry A. Wallace representing them on Capitol Hill.

50-50 Chance for War With Russia Before Year's End

Washington experts who have studied all aspects of the situation express the opinion that there is a 50-50 chance we will go to war with Russia before the end of this year.

Six weeks ago, they thought the odds were 3-1 against war this year. Now they believe it is an even money proposition. This autumn is generally considered the danger period, with October and November the months in which war is most likely to break out.

You get a wide variety of convictions and various shades of opinion from questioning the highly regarded Washington observers concerning the threat of war with the Soviet Union before the end of this year.

Some consider the war a probability. Some believe that it will be averted in some manner, though they're not quite sure how. But all agree that the danger of war is very great, much greater than the average American realizes.

When you press them and attempt to pin them down, they invariably point out that in the final analysis the decision as to whether there will be a war will rest with Marshal Stalin and his advisers in the Kremlin.

No one in this country can forecast their actions with any degree of certainty. Who really knows what Stalin is thinking or what he will do?

Two factors, which have created the threat of war, are pretty well established beyond argument. One is that Russia evidently is determined to get us out of Berlin. The second is that we won't get out voluntarily.

Someone obviously has to back down if war is to be avoided. Virtually every observer in Washington is convinced that we will not give way. What they are uncertain about is whether the Soviet Union will use force to get us out of Berlin.

Most experts have held the opinion that Soviet Russia would not be ready to fight a war for another five years, pointing out that her industrial lands were devastated, her manpower sapped, that she would have been defeated by Germany but for the help we extended.

Now, however, the impression exists in some Washington circles that Russia may consider herself in a stronger position to wage war this year against the U. S. and our allies than she would be a year from now.

Military authorities, who know something of the workings of the Soviet mind, suspect that the Russians may be over-estimating the political weakness which, as they apparently see it, results from our Presidential campaign.

Other nations have never quite been able to comprehend our political battling. They see two warring political parties exchanging bitter charges, and they can hardly be blamed if they assume our country is being split asunder.

The big reason the danger period in our relations with Soviet Russia will come in October or November is that if we are to remain in Berlin we will ultimately have to establish a land route to the German capital.

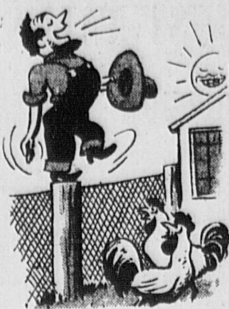

Our plane service isn't quite adequate even now to supply the food that is needed, but it would be impossible to fly in the coal that must be furnished next winter.

Some persons are unable to understand why we are risking a war over Berlin. Militarily and economically, it is unimportant and a liability rather than an asset. Politically, however, it is important, and American prestige is at stake in the maneuvering with Russia.

If we were to quit Berlin now, it would be regarded in Europe as a sign of weakness, and nations now allied with us would quickly swing to the Soviet Union as the strongest power.

Actually, of course, Russia wants much more than Berlin. Her real goal is the Ruhr, the industrial heart of Europe, and if she could get it she would become the world's top military power within a very few years.

Military men have tried to analyze Russia's plans and objectives, and they believe that we have a choice between stopping her now or fighting her later when she is all-powerful.

If Russia controlled the Ruhr, she would quickly communize Germany and harness the potent German military might. France would be an easy victim, and within a short time Communistic Russia would dominate all of Europe.

Britain could hold out against Russia for only a limited time, and finally we would stand alone against the Soviet Union with no buffer State in Europe.

That's the picture as the military analysts see it. While the Marshall plan is expensive, the cost of fortifying this hemisphere against the Soviet threat, if Russia controlled all Europe, would be far greater.

Russia, according to information received at Washington, is determined to thwart the Marshall Plan, if she can, because of the fear that it will woo western Europe away from the Soviet influence and build American prestige.

The Soviet Union already has suffered a series of setbacks which have tended to lower her prestige, among them the Italian elections, the French elections, the Finnish and Dutch elections, the Tito rebellion and the coolness of Norway.

That's one reason, probably, that the Russian leaders feel they cannot afford to lose the maneuvering for Berlin. That's why war might flare almost momentarily in Europe, and it's why every new incident in our relations with the Soviet Union assumes such importance.

To the question of whether there is any evidence that Russia really intends to go to war, Washington experts declare that there have been Soviet troop movements, that Asiatics have been shifted to the western front, that there have been maneuvers by Russian planes, tanks and armored divisions and that harvests have been rushed in eastern Germany and other Russian-held countries.

And on the American side, more troops and bombers have been sent to Germany. Some jet planes have been assigned there. Our fleets have been strengthened in the North Atlantic and the Mediterranean. There have been these and other signs that the U. S. will fight, if necessary.

The prospect of another war—even a 50-50 chance of one—is not a pleasant one to contemplate, but there is nothing to be gained from closing our eyes to a dangerous situation.

We would be at a great disadvantage at the start if war were to develop in Germany. Berlin could not be held, and military men express doubt that any part of Germany could be held even by the combined American, British and French armies against the forces the Soviets could put into the field.

Our troops would have to evacuate Berlin and take with them thousands of German civilians who have worked with them and who would be purged if they were left behind to fall into Soviet hands.

It's possible, according to the military minds, that we might make a stand on the Rhine, but they're not certain we could mobilize the necessary manpower even to do that. They add that it would take us anywhere from two to five years to win a war with Russia.

The impression in Washington is that Russia probably has not perfected the atomic bomb, that she may possess the secret but lacks the knowledge of how to make it work.

C. Crawford Hollidge Opens New Wellesley Specialty Shop

Thursday marked the official opening of the newest store in Wellesley, C. Crawford Hollidge, at the corner of Cross and Central streets.

It was a long-to-be-remembered occasion in the history of the fashion store. Starting at 8 o'clock, p.m., many residents of surrounding cities and towns participated in "Open House" inspection of the imposing new building. Prior to that hour Miss Ethel McGowan, treasurer of the firm and a member of the original staff which opened the first C. Crawford Hollidge-Boston in 1909, cut the ribbon at the front entrance of the new store in the traditional manner. With Crawford H. Hollidge, president, John M. Hollidge and Herbert, J. Clapp, vice-presidents, welcomed those who called to inspect this most interesting and inviting building, and the distinguished new fashions it contains.

Many outstanding manufacturers and designers in the fashion field were in attendance for this important event.

There is something very different and individual about the newly built, completely air-conditioned C. Crawford Hollidge store in Wellesley. An outstanding feature noted is its rhythmic, curving design, so in keeping with the unusual setting. Seam-faced granite, hand-cut in Quincy, and brown holding brick, cleverly matched in color, offer compelling contrast to gleaming plate glass.

There's an innate quality characteristic of C. Crawford Hollidge stores ever since the original shop was opened by the late C. Crawford Hollidge, almost exactly 39 years ago. This new Wellesley shop, with excellent parking facilities, is situated at a most accessible Central street intersection, and commands immediate attention from any angle. Trimmed with cast stone, unusual in design, it is strikingly modern and in excellent taste. About six times larger than the former C. Crawford Hollidge, Wellesley store, it contains not only complete stocks of the apparel and accessories carried at the Boston store, but additional Wellesley "exclusives."

Fessenden School Day Camp Closes for Season

The Fessenden School Day Camp in West Newton closed on Friday after a very successful season. The camp has provided a summer of healthful activities for boys and girls, as well as direction in learning to live and play together.

The program has been unregimented with nature lore and illustrated educational films, plus the development in sports and crafts. This, Clarence E. Churchill, principal of Hyde School Newton, and the camp director, feels has been a means of helping the boys and girls to find their natural talents and develop them.

The staff has been excellent, and there has been a unique feeling of real democracy in the entire camp program. Open House was held on Friday for the closing ceremonies, with sports activities for the campers and parents. The colored film of the camp was shown, as well as many colored slides taken during the summer. Each camper was given a certificate of accomplishment, and those who had developed the most in archery, tennis, riflery, etc., were given special awards.

After the exercises, the boys and girls and their parents enjoyed the refreshments served on the school's spacious lawns.

Rotary Members Hear Advertising Talk

Dick Bancroft, new member of Newton's Rotary, was the speaker at the weekly meeting of the club Monday. He was introduced by Norm. Moore who pointed out his various positions: held in the advertising field. He was with Time Magazine, in Boston, New York, Atlanta, and Detroit, recently working with the accounts of Ford Motor Company and Coca Cola, and is now with the Vernor's Ginger Ale.

He pointed out the necessity of advertising by the example of several very successful companies which became mediocre when they stopped advertising during the World War, also that luxuries, such as automobiles, are brought within the reach of the public through advertising. It pays, only if done scientifically, however, and that means the employment of an agency or expert. The agencies cost the advertiser nothing, being paid by the medium.

for house-to-house solicitation during the Campaign.

Working with Riley Hampton, Newton Campaign Chairman, are four assistants: Harold T. Pillsbury, Vice-Chairman, and Dwight C. Arnold, Harold S. Goldberg and Dexter C. Whittinghill, Assistant Chairman. Mr. Pillsbury will act as first lieutenant to Chairman Hampton, working with him on all Campaign matters, while Messrs. Arnold, Goldberg and Whittinghill will assist in contact with the various money-raising divisions.

"Our plans for the Chest Campaign are well under way," Chairman Hampton stated this week. "No step will be missed to have it a successful one. The Red Feather Agencies, who depend upon us for their year-round program, are having their problems to make ends meet just as we as individuals are. I am convinced that is our duty, that of the Campaign organization and the public at large, to see that sufficient funds are raised this year so that the much needed agency work can go on without handicap during 1949."

Vet Must Specify Lump Sum Payment On GI Insurance

The beneficiary of a National Service Life Insurance policy cannot have the proceeds paid in one lump sum unless the insured veteran had selected this mode of settlement prior to his death, Walter V. Robinson, Veterans Administration insurance officer for Boston, stated today.

"In the event of death of the insured veteran," Robinson said, "NSLI is payable to the beneficiary or beneficiaries either in a lump sum or in equal monthly installments ranging from 36 monthly payments to lifetime income. The lump sum payment must, however, have been selected by the insured veteran."

Preparations Made For Taunton Derby

Taunton, Aug. 26—With nominations coming into the hands of Andrew Leddy, racing secretary, in rapid fashion, final plans for the 13th annual renewal of the Taunton Derby on Saturday, Sept. 4, will be completed before the end of the week at the Taunton Dog Track.

The fifth major strike attraction at the Blue Ribbon track of America will close the 50-night greyhound racing meet with the eight top speedsters at the Taunton Track competing for an approximate $2600 purse, plus the orchid blanket and the handsome trophy.

Since in Japan, he plays the organ and directs choirs in the Episcopal churches throughout the Tokyo-Yokohama area. He is at present organizing a Young People's Fellowship group for Episcopalians youths, and is interested in organizing a choir of boys to be called the "Acolytes Guild," which will sing at Christ Church on the Bluff in Yokohama, Japan. Corporal Licht is a member of DeMolay in Newtonville, and also of the same fraternity in Yokohama.

Interested in radio work, Licht, has "disc-jockeyed" at WVTR where the Armed Forces Radio Service broadcasts are made. WVTR is located in the famous Radio Tokyo building, where Tokyo Rose went on the air during the war.

Along with his prime interest, music, the corporal is a camera enthusiast and is beginning an album for his family which will record "Life in Japan."

Upon discharge from the Army in June, 1950, the corporal will continue his musical education at the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston. His aims are high since it is his ambition to surpass such organists as E. Power Biggs, from whom he has taken a few lessons, Richard Elzasser, and Kenneth Fitzpatrick.

Corporal Licht is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl C. Licht, who make their home at 160 Needham street, Newton Highlands.

Eight Newton Senior Scouts at Air Scout Encampment at Stewart Field

Eight Senior Scouts of Newton are attending an Air Scout Encampment at Stewart Field, the U. S. Air Forces Training Base adjacent to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., all this week. R. E. Pettit, Scout executive of Norumbega Council announced Wednesday.

Senior Scouts attending the encampment will observe the USAF in action at the Air Force Base. The men will live as Cadets of the U. S. Air Force, being quartered in the Cadet Barracks, and fed in the Cadet mess. They will be given expert instruction by USAF training officers in the various requirements for Air Scout advancement including orientation flights in military aircraft, and they will be under the direct supervision of Scouter Personnel of the Boy Scouts of America and the New England Air Liaison Officer of Headquarters 1st Air Force.

The local Squadron sponsored by the Newton Rotary Club will be represented at the encampment.

The summer encampments at USAF bases represent only one of the many opportunities available to the Senior Scouts resulting from the cooperation of the USAF with the Boy Scouts of America. A joint program of cooperation was established in 1945 based upon USAF recognition of the immediate and long-range value of the Air Scout program of the Boy Scouts of America in developing widespread interest and familiarity with aviation matters.

The Air encampment is expected to be of great value to the local Senior Scouts as they will undergo a very comprehensive program of pre-flight training provided by the U. S. Air Force with emphasis on learning through doing. Highlights of the encampment will include a tour of the U. S. Military Academy grounds at West Point and a dance which will be held at the Stewart Field Officers Club.

Thugs Crack Safe and Net $3000 in Cash

A gang of professional safe crackers picked a door lock to gain entrance to the Vernon Ginger Ale Bottling Corp., at 244 Needham St., Newton and scooped out the $3000 in cash and an undetermined amount in checks after forcing a safe door off during a week end burglary.

While banging and ripping open the large safe door with the company's own crowbar, the safe men paused during their labor to refresh themselves with two bottles of ginger ale.

Newton police believe the burglars were professionals and entered the building sometime between 5 p.m. Saturday when the plant closed and 10 a.m. Sunday when the break was discovered by John McLean, sales manager.

Many Newtonites Attending National Tennis Games

The glimpse of circus tents from Boylston Street, the international flags showing from the stadium on the corner, and the tanned and handsome men and women stepping out of out-of-town cars on Hammond Street are signs that the brilliant National Doubles is in full swing again at Longwood Cricket Club.

Tennis and autograph fans have had a double-dose of excitement this year with a Davis Cup round just having been finished August 22, and five pairs of doubles champions to be decided before the tournament, which began Monday, August 23, ends over the weekend.

Bob Falkenberg is the only leading American player who is not at Longwood this week. He is saving himself for the National Singles and practicing elsewhere.

One need only pick up a daily newspaper to see the names of the famous players who are at Longwood. Parker and Shroeder, Mulloy and Talbert, Seixas and Match, they're all here. The women players, led by Shirley Fry, Margaret DuPont, Louise Brough, Rosemary Buck, Gussie Moran, and Pat Todd, are a pretty group. But the names you won't find in most papers are those of the rosters and the workers behind the tournament, without whom no week of tennis could ever be successful.

Australia finally won the right to challenge America's Davis Cup Team at Forest Hills in September after four absorbing days of play, August 19-22. Adrian Quist, Australia's team captain, won the first match from the young Czech, Vladimir Cernik, 6-2, 13-11, 6-0. Dana Smith from Waban served as a linesman. Mr. Clifford James was in the officials stand. Mr. Irving Wright of Chestnut Hill, ex-club president, was the referee. Tom Adams of Waban, Al Stitt, Al Evert, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Field, Jane Saw-

Australian Davis Cup Team Among Guests

Mrs. Katherine B. Tyler of Mt. Ida St., Newton, entertained at a cocktail party August 25. Present were Mr. David S. Niles, Commander Austin S. Kibbee of Chestnut Hill, Mr. J. Gilbert Hall, National Veteran's Tennis Champion from New York, Mr. Fred Hawthorne of the New York Herald Tribune, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Plimpton of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bowditch of Brookline, Mr. Earl Cochell and the Australian Davis Cup Team.

The guests went on from the party to the Midsummer dance at Longwood Cricket Club, which was well attended by both members and tournament players. Among those from Newton there were James Geddard and his wife Nancy, Barbara Henderson, Polly Quilty, Walter Connolly, Nancy Wiggin, Marilyn Tilton, and Art Tyler.

All day Sunday, while the last Davis Cup match was being played, the national doubles partners arrived at the club to practice and see their playing assignments. The next morning, at 11, the nationals began.

Monday was a comparatively dull tennis day, with most of the leading players having drawn byes. On Tuesday the competition began getting tougher, and the play more interesting.

The third day was the day of upsets. The Australians, Adrian Quist and Bill Sidwell, were beaten in four sets by the determined American team of Budge Patty and Sydney Wood. The Czechs were eliminated by two other unexpected winners, Tom Brown and Irvin Dorfman, also in four sets. Australia's future Davis Cup hope, 21 year old Frank Sedgman and his partner, Princeton graduate Bill Vogt, made the sleepy-looking team of Parker and Shroeder work for every point before they finally came out on top.

The end of the third day found most of the tennis teams out of the running, leaving the field clear for what is generally expected to be the eventual doubles final of Shroeder and Parker versus the defending champions Mulloy and Talbert.

From now on, fans who come searching for "color" will undoubtedly find it in the form of more upsets and blazing displays of temper from the women players, as well as the men.

The best all-around afternoon a spectator can have is to wander with a general admission ticket through the grounds and stop at any court and leave whenever he pleases. Among the watchers the first three days of play were Harrison Rowbatham from Waban and his two daughters, Charles Gregg of West Newton, Jane Ferguson Codman, Al Evert and Don Manchester, the Lyne brothers from Chestnut Hill, George Sweeney, Ann James, Nancy Blanchard, the Thompson brothers, Charles and Tom, Bill Crafts, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Doston.

The Nationals come but once a year, and Newtonites are going all out for it.

A Message to 138,000 telephone users in Greater Boston who did not have telephones
three years ago

We think you'll agree with the policy we've followed—putting new telephones on party lines in order to give service to as many people as possible.

In this way, we've given service to thousands of people who, otherwise, would still be without it.

To add all these new telephones, even on party lines, we've done far more construction and installation work in the past three years than in any similar period in our history.

Many of you, and others who have had telephones for longer periods, are now asking us for individual service—or for a line with fewer parties on it—or for a different type of service than you now have. We are anxious to fill these requests as soon as we possibly can.

But right now we're using most of our new equipment as it's installed to fill orders—now on our books and coming in from day to day—for people who are now without telephones. That seems only fair.

The next step will be to provide the exact type of service that people want. It's a big job, and it's going to take some time.

IN NEWTON, there are 2899 families now on party lines, who have asked us to put them on lines with fewer people on them. In addition, there are 1475 others who want a change in their type of service.

All of these requests will be honored eventually. We only wish we could be specific as to when that date will be. But until we can provide some kind of service for everybody who wants a telephone and who, as yet, doesn't have it, it will be necessary to defer the installation of equipment which would permit this type of service change.
